Violence Against Women Is A Sin

In this day and age, unless Christians are revolutionaries, they are not Christians.

-Pope Francis-

It's not about the NFL. It's not about a few overly aggressive men, nor about women with a bad self-image. No. Violence against women is not about a few isolated individuals; it is about us. It's about a culture in which such violence has been, not so much hidden as minimized; privatized to such a degree that, even today, we refer to this particular kind of abuse as "domestic"—as though it were a matter to be kept in the home, to be "worked through" away from the prying eyes of larger society. Only rarely, when a man goes "too far"—e.g., when the neighbors are disturbed or the victim has to go to the hospital—has such violence earned social condemnation; and then, often, the condemnation refers not to the evil of the violence itself, but to the lack of proportionality shown by the perpetrator. In other words, he beat his partner more than a "reasonable" man would.

Violence against women, of course, is nothing new, nor is it limited to any one culture or community; rather, it emerges wherever women are reduced to something less than full humanity, where they are made into objects for men's possession or adornment. One can find such images of women in biblical texts—as when Lot, seeking to protect his male visitors from assault by the men of Sodom, offers his daughters up to the mob—or in the practices of some forms of Islamic fundamentalism. But beyond religion, one can also find this violence in various forms of urban culture, where women are worn as trophies, beside gold chains or furs; or in the airbrushed wilderness of modern advertising, in which even overt references to the violent domination of women is common.

One of the most insidious ways in which we have become acculturated to violence against women has been through the various popular images that diminish its seriousness. Just as the horrors of slavery have been minimized through repeated versions of the "happy Negro" of the ante-bellum South—e.g., recall Bill "Bojangles" Robinson dancing with Shirley Temple in The Little Colonel, or Butterfly McQueen fussing over "Miss Scarlet" in Gone With the Wind—so American culture has reduced the viciousness of spousal assault through the use of television and movies. Who remembers the many times Ricky Ricardo had to put his "whacky wife," Lucy, over his knee, for her own good? Or who recalls when, in the classic film, "The Quiet Man," the heroic John Wayne drags and kicks the over-proud Maureen O'Hara through field and farm, resulting in her losing that wrongful pride and becoming the dutiful wife, which (of course) she always wanted to be. Like parables of violence, these stories and images teach men the rightness of “knocking the girls around,” and teach women that they should expect such treatment, until they learn to act in a way that doesn’t “deserve” it.

Through the silencing power of shame, cultures have trained women and girls to see themselves as deserving of the beatings given by their spouses or boyfriends. Thus, the victims often assume the blame for such assaults, apologizing for the ways they “provoked” their assailant. Or, they claim that the act of violence was really a sign of care, i.e., “he did it because he loves me.” Absorbing the lessons of a sick culture, many women come to believe the myth that such violence is inherent in the relationships of men and women, part the order of nature, and, sometimes, even the will of God. Few heresies are so deep in Western culture, and few distort as viciously the life and message of Jesus Christ; for Jesus was, himself, a victim of violence: beaten and humiliated, to the point of death, by aggressors who thought it both their right and their duty.

The notion that women are children meant to be disciplined by men, or that they are chattel to be used and abused at the will of their masters, emerges in so many cultures as to seem almost self-evident; yet, by his life, death, and resurrection, Jesus overthrows such “self-evident” truths with a new and liberating grace. Throughout the gospels, Jesus proclaims, by his words and actions, a different vision, a different paradigm of power and humanity, which respects women equally with men, and affords them equal dignity in society and culture. In his treatment of the woman caught in adultery (Jn. 8:1-11), in his praise and care of the woman with the hemorrhage (Mk. 5:25-34), in his acceptance of Mary when she assumes the place of a disciple (Lk. 10:38-42), in his praise of the woman who anointed him before his death (Mk. 14:9), in his dialogue with the woman at the well (Jn. 4), in his choice of Mary Magdalen as the first witness of the resurrection (Jn. 20:14-16), and in countless other direct and indirect ways, Jesus rejects the abusive and domineering power given to men in his culture, as in our own. On the contrary, he treats the women he encounters with dignity and respect, which scandalizes many of those around him; and he enters into dialogue and debate with women—as when the Canaanite woman presses him to offer his healing to her daughter, even though he had been sent only to the people of Israel (Mt. 15:21-28). In these encounters, Jesus never resorts to violence or diminishment or abuse. Rather, he affirms the absolute and divinely ordained value of women—an affirmation that does not diminish the value of men, but that overthrows the culture of violence, which we have both inherited and perpetuated.

Recently, Pope Francis proclaimed that “unless Christians are revolutionaries, they are not Christians.” The gospel of Jesus Christ up-ends our notions of normal, overturning our long and bloody history of domination and violence. To be a Christian is to stand in absolute opposition to those principles of power that rule this world: where the strong beat upon the weak, and victims are blamed for their own oppression. True Christianity is a revolt against every custom and myth that would accept or, even more wickedly, promote such abuse. While this revolutionary characteristic of Jesus and his followers has not always been applied to the relationship of men and women, it must be if one is to be faithful to the example and teaching of Christ. Violence against women is not simply a societal phenomenon or a sociological problem, violence against women is a sin—a fundamental and tragic rejection of God’s will. We must stand against this sin; must educate our sons and daughters that violence against women is not the way things are, but only the way we have allowed things to become. The revolution of grace is upon us. Let us stand up and banish this sin from our world.

For Those Who Cannot Eat Gluten, An Invitation to Eucharist

If you have celiac disease or a severe gluten allergy, you may receive the Eucharist in a gluten-free form from the Presider, who will have the consecrated host in a pyx. Please tell him that you need a gluten-free host, and he will allow you to remove it from the pyx in a safe manner. Remember: this pyx will only be with the Presider, so go to him.

Prayer

St. Joseph Community extends its prayers and hopes for the following intentions:

For Jon's strength . . . For Carl's search in Seattle and for Kevin's search in the Tri-Cities in finding successful employment for their skills and talent . . . For Paul to see hope when life is hard and to know his family and friends care about his well being . . . For Khloe who was born two months premature and is at Children's Hospital and for her parents Brianna and Tim . . . For Emilie's upcoming shoulder surgeries . . . For Gloria's amazing recovery from chemo . . . For Sharon's continued progress in speech therapy after her stroke and for the wonderful support she is receiving from her husband, family and friends.

Prayer Tree

*"Beloved, if God loved us so very much,
we also ought to love one another."
1 John 4:11*

Eternal rest grant unto him, O Lord, and let perpetual light shine upon him.

For Charlie Toce, uncle of Danny Colella, who died this week.

If you have petitions you would like included in the prayer tree, including birth announcements, illnesses and deaths, please call the parish office at 206-324-2522 ext 100 or email rleet@stjosephparish.org

Praying With The Arts Retreat

The liturgical year begins with Advent and concludes with celebration of "Christ the King" in November.

The fall Praying with the Arts retreat will celebrate "The Kingdom Season." Held at St. Mary-on-the-Lake in Bellevue on Saturday, November 1, the retreat will begin at 9 am and end at 1:30 pm. Led by the Rev. M. Louise Holert, participants will study three of Jesus' Kingdom parables along with art masterpieces by Jan Vermeer and contemporary British artist Roger Wagner.

Cost of the retreat is $30, advance registration necessary. St. Mary's is at 1655-1633 Killarney Way in Bellevue. To register, go to www.prayingwiththearts.com.

Sacred Silence

A time for silent prayer and peace

The Sacred Silence prayer group gathers on Monday nights at 7 pm in the Church for an hour of silent prayer. Newcomers always welcome. Open to all types of prayer practice. People are encouraged to use whatever silent prayer practice works best for them whether it is centering prayer, Ignatian imagination or another prayer. Time is spent both sitting and walking in silence.

For information on Sacred Silence and silent prayer contact Jim Hoover at jhoover3law@qwestoffice.net or 206-286-0313.

Parish Holy Hour

Thursday, October 2, 7- 8 pm, join the Choose Life Ministry for a Rosary with Exposition of the Blessed Sacrament, in the Loyola Chapel of the Parish Center. Refreshments to follow.
All are welcome!

"What will save the world? My answer is prayer. What we need is for every Parish to come before Jesus in the Blessed Sacrament in Holy Hours of prayer."

"The time you spend with Jesus in the Blessed Sacrament...will help bring about an everlasting peace on earth."

-Mother Teresa of Calcutta

"Of course, all of us are called to mature in our work as evangelizers. We want to have better training, a deepening love and a clearer witness to the Gospel. In this sense, we ought to let others be constantly evangelizing us. But this does not mean that we should postpone the evangelizing mission; rather, each of us should find ways to communicate Jesus wherever we are. All of us are called to offer others an explicit witness to the saving love of the Lord, who despite our imperfections offers us his closeness, his word and his strength, and gives meaning to our lives."

~Pope Francis

Seniors On The Go

Annointing Mass - Friday, October 3rd, 11:30 am in the Church. Please join us for a delicious lunch following the healing mass in the Parish Center.

St. Joseph Women's Ministry

St. Joseph's Women's Ministry Group invites you to join us for "Coffee Connect" Sunday, October 12th from 10 am-11am at Starbucks on 4000 E Madison.

Contact Sheila Sifferman Marie 206.251.7035 if you have any questions. Thank you.

St. Vincent de Paul

Generous donors offer St. Vinnie's matching

Two generous parishioners have said they will match up to $1,600.00 next weekend's donations to our St. Vincent de Paul ministry here at St. Joseph Church. This wonderful expression of support comes at a perfect time of the year. The fall and winter seasons lie ahead. Colder, wetter weather brings an increase in the number of requests for help by our neighbors in need.

While they have asked to remain anonymous, these generous people will match dollar-for-dollar your donations in whatever amount you can give. Our goal is to meet the $1,600.00 they have put up, making a total of $3,200.00 for the October first Sunday collection. We hope you can help reach this amount. Every cent of what is donated will go to help the poor. We have zero overhead as our work is done by the volunteer members of our St. Joseph St. Vinnie's Conference.

As ever, we are grateful to these special donations and to the support each of you gives to our first Sunday collections.

St. Joseph Winter Shelter

The St. Joseph Winter Shelter opens Wednesday, October 1st. There are 3 groups of volunteers that keep the shelter going.

'Hosts' spend the night with the men once a month.

'Meal Providers' make a meal bag for each man to take with them for the day. Scheduled once a month or every 6 weeks.

'Daily Prep' – this is new. I am hoping to find 2 or 3 people that would take turns organizing the shelter for the night Hosts. It takes about an hour.

The shelter is open Tuesday – Saturday and can be done anytime between 7:30am – 6:00pm. It involves making juice, putting a meat / cheese tray together etc. If you are interested in volunteering look for the sign-up table in the vestibule after Mass. Or contact: Taffy McCormick-taffymccormick@comcast.net

Good News People

Who Are You Becoming?

It's an important question to ask as you begin each day! Our thoughts, words, choices, actions and inactions reveal who we are; but is this who we really want to be? The GoodNews People program is an exciting new program being offered at St. Joe's that addresses the question, "Who am I becoming?" in a dynamic and thought provoking way. GoodNews People will familiarize you with the biblical witness of Jesus and explore the richness of the Catholic faith in a variety of way that honor the hungers of the soul, the needs of adult learners, and the competing demands of busy people.

Through prayer and reflection in small faith groups, you will draw on the wisdom that emerges from listening deeply to God's presence and action in your life. GoodNews People engages the head and heart along with the hands and feet as it seeks to build the bonds of community and foster a deeper understanding of discipleship.

You are personally invited to participate in this exciting program! Good News People offers you the opportunity to:

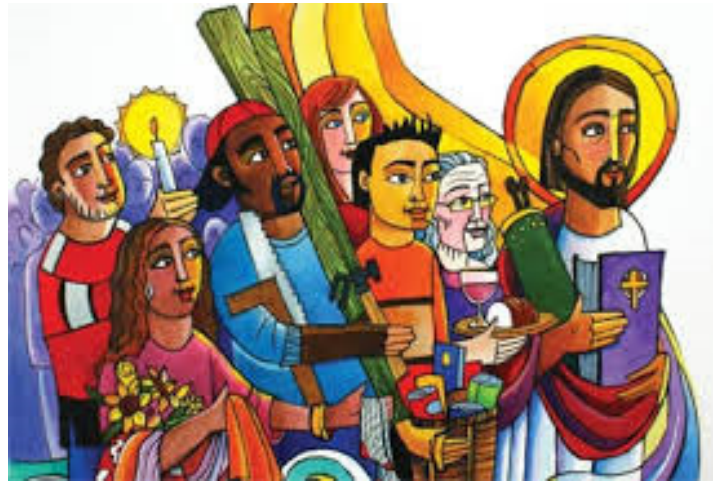

- Meet other members of the parish and form a deeper sense of purpose and belonging
- Learn more about your faith and what it means to be a follower of Jesus
- Find renewed hope in living the Gospel and putting your faith into action

After all the Masses in September we will have registrations after Mass and there will be an opportunity to register on the parish website.

For more information contact: Steve Wodzanowski – stew@stjosephparish.org or 206-965-1646 or Vince Herberholt – vherberholt3@comcast.net or 206-491-4486.

Trip to El Salvador this November

This year marks the 25th anniversary of the six Jesuits and two women killed at University of Central America (UCA) November 16, 1989. In solidarity with our sister parish of San Bartolome in Arcateo, we are sending a parish delegation including Fr. John. The Dates are November 11th thru 17th. Rough cost is $1300 per Person. We have 4-6 spaces available.

Please contact Deacon Steve at 965-1646 or stevew@stjosephparish.org if you are interested.

Shirts Across America & St. Joseph's The Voice are Building up New Orleans

Information Night - Tuesday, Oct. 7
Seattle Preparatory Theatre

The tenth anniversary of Hurricane Katrina takes place in August 2015. There are still thousands of families trying to move home. Shirts Across America (SAA) decided to step up, but we need your help. Come be 4 NOLA!

Shirts Across America is a nonprofit organization started right here at St. Joe's and is committed to building homes in New Orleans. SAA has sent over 1,450 volunteers to the Gulf Coast—including hundreds of St. Joseph's The Voice students and parents—and has helped rebuild over 120 homes. SAA has also fully funded the rebuilding of 14 homes over the last seven years.

If you or your son/daughter are interested in going on the 2015 spring break trip, we invite you to attend the Spring Break Kick Off Event. This information event will take place at Seattle Prep's Theater on Tuesday, October 7th, at 7 p.m. This is a mandatory meeting, for all students and their parents interested in going on the trip to New Orleans in April 2015. Parents and students will receive a snapshot of past trips, hear directly from Collins Tuohy from the movie "The Blind Side," and learn about the application process for the trip. If you have questions, please contact Lindsey Dvorak at (206) 212-1055 or LindseyD@shirtsacrossamerica.org. More information available at www.ShirtsAcrossAmerica.org.

Ignatian Spirituality 101 An Introduction to Ignatian Prayer & Spirituality

Thursday, October 2, 2014 | 7:00-9:00 pm
St. Joseph Parish Center, Seattle

Pope Francis, the first Jesuit Pope, is grounded in Ignatian spirituality, but many do not know fully what that means. What is Ignatian spirituality all about? How might I incorporate Ignatian prayer and spirituality into my life? If you would like to know more, this evening introduction to the basics of Ignatian prayer and spirituality is for you! Come learn more about the life of St. Ignatius and key elements of Ignatian spirituality, experience Ignatian prayer, and learn how this rich spiritual tradition is being kept alive locally. If you are already familiar with Ignatian spirituality, we encourage you to think of others to invite!

No cost. Free will offering. For more information or to RSVP, email Andrea Fontana at andrea@ignatiancenter.org or call 206.329.4824.

Community

Ignatian Companions: Small Group Spiritual Direction

For Men Only (Steve Wodzanowski, facilitating)
For Men and Women (Rosanne Michaels, facilitating)

Information Evening FOR BOTH: Tuesday, October 14, 2014

7-8 pm | St. Joseph Parish Center, Seattle

Join a small group of 4-9 people committed to accompanying and supporting one another for the purpose of cultivating attention to God at work in prayer and daily life. Each evening will typically include communal prayer, ritual, check-in, shared reflections, careful listening, and silence. Each group member will be expected to have a regular prayer life, an ability and willingness to share about one's interior life and prayer, an openness to listening deeply to oneself and others, and experience with Ignatian spirituality. This is a group spiritual direction process guided by experienced spiritual directors/ISC facilitators. We hope you will prayerfully consider this rare opportunity to go more deeply into your life of prayer and faith with the support of Ignatian companions!

COST: $225 program fee for 7 monthly gatherings; includes a $25 refundable application fee due by Tuesday, October 21. Partial work scholarships and payment plans available. For more information, contact Andrea Fontana at (206) 329-4824. Sponsored by Ignatian Spirituality Center. www.ignatiancenter.org

St. Joseph Hosts A Croatian Mass

OCTOBER 4th, AT SATURDAY 5 PM MASS

As part of CroatiaFest, a part of the Festal Series of Festivals held at the Seattle Center, a Croatian themed mass will be held at the regular 5PM Mass on Saturday October 4. Mass will be said in English and hymns will be sung in Croatian and played by a Croatian tamburitza orchestra. The tamburitza is a lute-like instrument similar to a mandolin. The festivities party with live music will be held across the street at the Russian Community Center for parishioners are invited to attend. Cost for the post mass celebration is $10. For more information, visit the festival website at www.croatiafest.org

Neighborhood Blessing Of The Animals

Please join us on Saturday,
October 4th at 11:00 am, on the Feast of St. Francis of Assisi for a blessing of the animals on the front lawn of the church.

Lord, make me an instrument of your peace.

Where there is hatred, let me sow love.

Where there is injury, pardon.

Where there is doubt, faith.

Where there is despair, hope.

Where there is darkness, light.

Where there is sadness, joy.
