Nepal Relief Collection

The recent earthquake in Nepal has left tremendous devastation and resulted in thousands of deaths (more than 4000, as of this afternoon). Tens of thousands of others have been left homeless—even as they mourn the loss of their sisters and brothers, their parents and children. These women and men struggle now to find food and shelter, medical care and contact with those they love. And, we are called by Christ toease their struggle and dry their tears—as best we can.

This weekend, all of the money raised at our Masses (5:00 pm Saturday, 9:00 am, 11:00 am, and 5:30 pm) will be donated to Catholic Relief Services. CRS has a wonderful reputation for reputable and rapid service in these crises, and they are already on the ground in Nepal.

Evening and Morning

Each day’s terror, almost a form of boredom—madmen at the wheel and stepping on the gas and the brakes no good—and each day one, sometimes two, morning-glories, faultless, blue, blue sometimes flecked with magenta, each lit from within with the first sunlight.

-Denise Levertov-

When the news came in of the earthquake in Nepal, I was struck for a moment with that instinctive tightening in my chest—like when the doctor taps your knee with that little rubber hammer and your foot jerks up. Another disaster, thousands killed. I tried to imagine the devastation: the children running into the streets, their parents hoping all of them were there; the people, frozen in place for the first few seconds, not sure what was happening, not sure what to do; the buildings falling, first in bits then in huge masses, as that wave of earth rolled through the city, like a dragon beneath the surface; then the silence and the smoke, and the terror rising as awareness descends. And as you begin to realize you are not dead, you look out and see the bodies, and the water from broken pipes, and the other dazed survivors filling the streets. Recalling the Loma Prieta and the Nisqually earthquakes, the images came, and I knew what we had to do: write a prayer, start a fund, feel sorrow.

Reflecting on these first feelings, I know they were sincere; yet, I must admit, they were also dulled and just a touch mechanical—habits of sorrow, true and deep, but depleted by years of anguish and loss, by numerous tragedies and terrors. Like one desensitized by over-exposure, it took me longer to engage the human cost of Nepal, and to rouse, in my heart, the empathy and compassion I so much desire to feel.

Compassion—that quality of Jesus so often mentioned in Scripture—unites us to others, whether they are near or far away, and empowers us to experience in our own hearts a communion with them in their suffering, which is the source of Christian love and sacrifice. Compassion is our sharing in the Incarnation, a means by which the Holy Spirit makes us all one body in Christ. All this I know; yet, I find compassion slower these days, drowned by too much sorrow, by too much suffering in the world.

After 9/11, after 14 years of war, after Haiti, after Fukushima, after Sandyhook, after 1000 bodies in the waters off of Sicily, after Ferguson, after Baltimore: how much more can our hearts absorb before they shut down?
How much terror before it becomes, as Levertov says, “a form of boredom”? We look at the “madmen at the wheel”—the ones in explosive vests and those in business suits, the ones who kill for Allah and those who starve the poor in the name of “free markets”—and we feel as powerless as we do in the face of floods and earthquakes, mudslides and hurricanes. Add to this our own losses—friends buried, relationships ended, the thousand little betrayals that break our hearts—and the burden can seem too much. We sigh, as grief threatens to overcome us, to force us into bunkers—safe from the dangers of the world, the dangers of our own too-human hearts. Yet, if we shut down, if we turn our hearts of flesh to hearts of stone, only to protect them, how can we be the People of God? How can we share the life of him who became flesh that he might know our pain, and raise us to his compassion?

I think the only answer is the Eucharist.

In the midst of all the pain and anguish of our lives, what is constant is that singular gift. Each morning and evening, in every corner of the world, among the poor and the powerful, the homebound and the homeless, the believers and the doubters and those who do not yet know Christ, the table of Christ is set and the sacrifice of love is offered. It is not offered for the few, or the virtuous, or the strong, but for the world—the broken, hungry world. And in it—in him—my own weak compassion is made enough to feed that world and believe in its redemption. At the table of the Eucharist, weary as I am, I am bound with ties of body and blood to all the suff ering and celebrating peoples of the world; I am turned towards them, oriented by a love that becomes my flesh and blood. Like the sun, cresting the mountains in the east and igniting the smallest flowers with her glory, the Eucharist reveals that the light of our world is not yet spent, that the beauty of the world is not worn out, that communion is our destiny and our nourishment, and our great renewing hope.

This weekend, 67 children will come, for the first time, to receive the gift of the Eucharist at the altar of Christ.
Like the faultless morning-glories of Levertov’s poem, each will be lit from within with that first sunlight, which is God’s love and the physical presence of Christ given for communion with each hungry soul. May this sacrament empower them—empower us all—to compassion and courage, to the perseverance in love by which Jesus embraced his cross and now embraces all of us in a passion that conquers the world.

THE INTRODUCTORY RITES

LITURGY OF THE WORD
First Reading

When Saul arrived in Jerusalem he tried to join the disciples, but they were all afraid of him, not believing that he was a disciple. Then Barnabas took charge of him and brought him to the apostles, and he reported to them how he had seen the Lord, and that he had spoken to him, and how in Damascus he had spoken out boldly in the name of Jesus. He moved about freely with them in Jerusalem, and spoke out boldly in the name of the Lord. He also spoke and debated with the Hellenists, but they tried to kill him. And when the brothers learned of this, they took him down to Caesarea and sent him on his way to Tarsus.

The church throughout all Judea, Galilee, and Samaria was at peace. It was being built up and walked in the fear of the Lord, and with the consolation of the Holy Spirit it grew in numbers.

Responsorial Psalm

Psalm 98

Psallite

A new song, a new song, sing to God a new song! What wonder, what power! Sing alleluia!

Second Reading

1 John 3:18-24

Children, let us love not in word or speech but in deed and truth.

Now this is how we shall know that we belong to the truth and reassure our hearts before him in whatever our hearts condemn, for God is greater than our hearts and knows everything. Beloved, if our hearts do not condemn us, we have confidence in God and receive from him whatever we ask, because we keep his commandments and do what pleases him. And his commandment is this: we should believe in the name of his Son, Jesus Christ, and love one another just as he commanded us. Those who keep his commandments remain in him, and he in them, and the way we know that he remains in us is from the Spirit he gave us.

Gospel

John 15:1-8

Jesus said to his disciples: “I am the true vine, and my Father is the vine grower. He takes away every branch in me that does not bear fruit, and every one that does he prunes so that it bears more fruit. You are already pruned because of the word that I spoke to you. Remain in me, as I remain in you. Just as a branch cannot bear fruit on its own unless it remains on the vine, so neither can you unless you remain in me. I am the vine, you are the branches. Whoever remains in me and I in him will bear much fruit, because without me you can do nothing. Anyone who does not remain in me will be thrown out like a branch and wither; people will gather them and throw them into a fire and they will be burned. If you remain in me and my words remain in you, ask for whatever you want and it will be done for you. By this is my Father glorified, that you bear much fruit and become my disciples.”

Many Are the Lightbeams

Olivier Messiaen

Cyprian of Carthayel

Olle Widestrand

1. Many are the lightbeams from the one light.
2. Many are the branches of the one tree.
3. Many are the gifts given, love is all one.
4. Many ways to serve God, the Spirit is one;
5. Many are the members, the body is one;

Our one light is Jesus.
Our one tree is Jesus.
Love’s the gift of Jesus.
Serve the servant spirit of Jesus.
Members all of Jesus.

Many are the lightbeams from the one
Many are the branches of the one
Many are the gifts given, love is all Many ways to serve God, the Spirit is Many are the members, the body is light; we are one in Christ.

Prayer over the Offerings

Priest: Pray, brothers and sisters, that my sacrifice and yours may be acceptable to God, the almighty Father.

Assembly: May the Lord accept the sacrifice at your hands for the praise and glory of his name, for our good and the good of all his holy Church.

Preface Dialogue

Priest: The Lord be with you.

Assembly: And with your spirit.

Priest: Lift up your hearts.

Assembly: We lift them up to the Lord.

Priest: Let us give thanks to the Lord our God.

Assembly: It is right and just.

The Lord's Prayer

During the Lord's prayer, the assembly either holds hands or lifts their hands up.

Sign of Peace

Assembly greets one another: Peace be with you.

Priest: Behold the Lamb of God, behold Him who takes away the sins of the world. Blessed are those called to the supper of the Lamb.

Assembly: Lord, I am not worthy that you should enter under my roof, but only say the word and my soul shall be healed.

All Are Invited To Come Forward

During communion, we invite all to come forward. If you do not ordinarily receive Eucharist, or choose not to, come for a blessing, indicating your desire by putting your hand on your heart.

If you have a gluten allergy, & need a gluten free host, please come to the Presider & indicate this.
After you receive Communion, you may kneel or sit if desired until the ciborium is returned to the tabernacle.

One of the most admirable effects of Holy Communion is to preserve the soul from sin, and to help those who fall through weakness to rise again. It is much more profitable, then, to approach this divine Sacrament with love, respect, and confidence, than to remain away through an excess of fear and scrupulosity.

Generations of children have benefited from the gift of Catholic education from St. Joseph School. That gift has come from many sources: tuition paid by committed parents; significant annual contributions from St. Joseph Parish; vigorous annual fundraising; the dedicated efforts of the school’s volunteers, staff and teachers; and support from alumni; and of course the St. Joseph School Endowment.

Levertov Festival

Denise Levertov was a great 20th century American poet and a parishioner at St Joseph in the 1990s. She wrote about faith, her love of the Northwest and her passionate belief in social justice. Fr. John has often quoted Levertov in his columns and homilies. On May 16, Choral Arts, a choir in residence at St. Joseph, will present the world premiere of Seattle-based composer John Muehleisen’s setting of Levertov’s poem “Making Peace.” In conjunction with the concert, St. Joseph is sponsoring a citywide celebration of Levertov’s legacy. Events that are free and open to the public, include talks, readings, films and a walk to Levertov’s gravesite at Lake View cemetery. Concert tickets are available through Choral Arts; students with i.d. are always admitted free to Choral Arts concerts.

May 5 (Tuesday): Homage to Levertov Reading, Sorrento Hotel, 7 PM
Featured presenters include Fr. John D. Whitney, SJ, Philip Shaw, Mark Petterson and Jan Wallace, each reading some work by Levertov and some original work inspired by the poet. Music by Rick Miller of the Half-Brothers. Rebecca Brown, emcee.

May 7 (Thursday): Introducing Levertov, St Joseph Parish Center, 7 PM
Presenters poet and Levertov friend Jan Wallace; pastor of St Joseph, Fr, John Whitney, SJ, and writer and parishioner Rebecca Brown will present a brief biography of Levertov then read and discuss several Levertov poems, with special emphasis on her Catholic poems and those written during the time she was a parishioner at St Joseph. St Joseph student reads original poem written with Levertov Festival visiting writers.

May 9 (Saturday): Levertov Gravesite Visit; Gather at Lake View Cemetery Gate, 11AM
Fr. Glen Butterworth offers a gravesite blessing, and Levertov friends and poets Jan Wallace and Emily Warn read Levertov and original poems.

May 14 (Thursday): Levertov Evening, Elliot Bay Bookstore, 7 PM
Director of Choral Arts Robert Bode and composer John Muehleisen discuss setting Levertov to music. Poets Emily Warn, Jan Wallace and others read Levertov poems about music and art and discuss the poet’s relationships to other arts.

May 16 (Saturday): Choral Arts Concert and Levertov Celebration Reception 6:15 - 9 PM
6:15: Reception (Arrupe Room) Brief reading, display of Levertov artifacts, presentation of City of Seattle Proclamation of May 16 as Denise Levertov Day
7:30: Preconcert conversation (Church) with Choral Arts Director, Robert Bode; composers Melinda Bargreen and John Muehleisne and writer Rebecca Brown.

Opportunity To Serve St. Francis House

Approximately 9,000 people in King County are homeless, living in shelters, under freeways, in doorways and in cars. They are men, women and children. Veterans, the mentally ill and the unlucky. Then there are the thousands and thousands of working poor in the Seattle area who are barely scraping by.

St. Francis House is established in the spirit of St. Francis of Assisi to be a presence in Seattle, to serve those in need and to inspire simplicity and charity in its volunteers and those they serve. Every weekend at Mass we invite those children and adults from our parish who’ve brought food to donate to come to the altar and place it in the basket.

Starting Mon, June 22 through September 30, help is needed at St. Joseph Parish Center sorting the weekend food collection for Francis House. This volunteer opportunity would occur EVERY OTHER MONDAY MORNING for about 1 hour and is an easy way to satisfy required service hours.

If you are interested in this opportunity, please contact Mary Ott at ottjim4@gmail.com or 206-324-7459.

Help Build In New Orleans

ADULT SERVICE TRIP
August 23-30th
Commemorating the 10th Anniversary of Hurricane Katrina

Has it really been 10 years since Hurricane Katrina hit the Gulf Coast? The answer is yes. There are still thousands of families trying to get home in New Orleans. Would you like to help move another family home? YOU CAN BE A PART OF THE SOLUTION! We are gathering adult volunteers to spend a week in New Orleans building homes, eating great food, and walking on a journey with the people of NOLA. Deadline to register is April 17th. For more information, visit www.ShirtsAcrossAmerica.org or contact Deacon Steve at 206-965-1646 or stevew@stjosephparish.org

St. Vincent de Paul

Next weekend is the collection for our parish’s St. Vincent de Paul group. And your generosity is most appreciated: helping people keep food on the table, keeping the lights on and the water running, helping pay the rent. In booming Seattle for too many people it’s merely bust.

Week in and week out, we get calls from people who need help. One fellow used some of his meager income to buy a bus ticket to his brother’s funeral in California. That ran him short for his light bill. We covered the difference he could not pay. Last spring a single mom bought her graduating daughter a prom dress (used!) so she could go to the senior prom. That ran her short for the rent. We made up the difference.

Poverty slices into lives in so many ways that people just getting by often can’t do the ordinary things like attending a relative’s funeral or going to the senior prom. Those are important occasions that come along only once—too important to miss. Thanks for your support.

Note date change for St. Vincent de Paul collection!
It will be the 2nd weekend of the month. May 9 & 10
Please join us in praying for our 67 children who are taking their first Communion this weekend.
