Simbang Gabi

Liturgy Notes by Katy Huston & Jenn Olegario

Simbang Gabi ("Night Mass") is a novena of nine Masses to honor the Blessed Virgin Mary as she prayerfully and joyfully anticipates the birth of Christ. It is a Filipino Advent tradition celebrated for nine nights before Christmas.

Simbang Gabi traces its roots to Mexico when, in 1587, the Pope granted the petition of Fray Diego de Soria, prior of the convent of San Agustin Acolman, to hold Christmas Mass outdoors because the church could not accommodate the huge number of people attending the evening Mass.

The Spanish missionaries brought Simbang Gabi to the Philippines, and subsequently became a unique custom for families to make their way to church in the dark to attend the Masses at dawn. Filipino immigrants brought Simbang Gabi to the United States, where they are often held in the evening. The faithful wake up early (or, alternately, come in the evening) for nine days before Christmas. The faithful make this their Aguinaldo, their gift to God, for the great gift of Jesus. The practice can also be understood as the preparation of the faithful to receive from God the great gift of Jesus, the savior of the world.

On December 17, 1997, the Archbishop of Seattle, the Most Reverend Alexander J. Brunett, celebrated the first Simbang Gabi in Seattle. He was so moved by the experience that he has since encouraged the entire archdiocese to participate in it. Now, it is observed in more than 80 parishes of the Archdiocese of Seattle as part of the advent celebration. Every year at the Commissioning Mass, the Archbishop blesses the Simbang Gabi parish coordinators and their parols (star lanterns symbolizing the light of Christ) and commissions them back to their parishes to share the joyful celebration of Simbang Gabi with their respective communities.

Simbang Gabi is, above all, a time for the community to celebrate the coming Birth of Christ with family, friends and neighbors. Our church will be specially decorated with lights and colorful parol lanterns that lead us from the darkness to the Light of Christ at Christmas.

Join us to celebrate Simbang Gabi at the Saturday 5pm Mass, and afterwards for Filipino food and drinks!

Entrance Song

(5) Halina, Hesus

Hontiveros, Javellana

Halina, Hesus, halina, Halina, Hesus, halina!

Come, Jesus, come, Come, Jesus, come!

Sa simula isinaloob Mo,
O D'yos, kaligtasan ng tao
Sa takdang panahon ay tinawag Mo
Isang bayang lingkod sa Iyo.

*In the beginning You took upon,
O God, salvation of man
In due time You called
A people in servitude to You.*

Gabay ng Iyong bayang hinirang
Ang pag-asa sa Iyong Mesiya.
"Emmanuel" ang pangalang bigay sa Kanya:
"Nasa atin ang D'yos tuwina."

*Guide of Your chosen people
The hope of Your Messiah.
"Emmanuel" is the name given to Him:
"God is always with us."*

Halina, Hesus, halina, Halina, Hesus, halina!

Come, Jesus, come, Come, Jesus, come!

Isinilang S'ya ni Maria,
Birheng tangi, Hiyas ng Judea
At "Hesus" ang pangalang bigay sa Kanya:
"Aming D'yos ay Tagapagadya."

*He was born of Mary,
Virgin only, Jewel of Judea
And "Jesus" is the name given to Him:
"Our God is a Provider."*

Darating muli sa takdang araw,
Upang tanang tao'y tawagin
At sa puso Mo aming Ama'y bigkisin
Sa pag-ibig na di mamaliw.

*Coming again on the appointed day,
To call everyone
And in Your heart bind our Father
In love that never fails.*

Halina, Hesus, halina, Halina, Hesus, halina!

Come, Jesus, come, Come, Jesus, come!

Penitential Act

I confess to almighty God and to you, my brothers and sisters, that I have greatly sinned, in my thoughts and in my words, in what I have done and in what I have failed to do,

Strike breast during next line.

through my fault, through my fault, through my most grievous fault.
therefore I ask blessed Mary ever-Virgin, all the Angels and Saints, and you, my brothers and sisters, to pray for me to the Lord our God.

First Reading

Micah 5:1-4a

Thus says the LORD:

You, Bethlehem-Ephrathah
too small to be among the clans of Judah, from you shall come forth for me
one who is to be ruler in Israel;
whose origin is from of old,
from ancient times.
Therefore the Lord will give them up, until the time when she who is to give birth has borne,

and the rest of his kindred shall return to the children of Israel.
He shall stand firm and shepherd his flock
by the strength of the LORD,
in the majestic name of the LORD, his God;
and they shall remain, for now his greatness shall reach to the ends of the earth;
he shall be peace.

Psalm

Psalm 80

Guimont

O shepherd of Israel, hear us, enthroned on the cherubim, shine forth.
Rouse up your might and come to save us. Ref.

God of hosts, turn again, we implore; look down from heaven and see.
Visit this vine and protect it, the vine your right hand has planted, the son of man you have claimed for yourself. Ref.

May your hand be on the man at your right hand,
the son of man you have confirmed as your own.
And we shall never forsake you again; give us life that we may call upon your name. Ref.

Second Reading

Hebrews 10:5-10

Brothers and sisters: When Christ came into the world, he said:

"Sacrifice and offering you did not desire,
but a body you prepared for me;
in holocausts and sin offerings you took no delight.
Then I said, 'As is written of me in the scroll, behold, I come to do your will, O God.'"

First he says, "Sacrifices and offerings, holocausts and sin offerings, you neither desired nor delighted in." These are offered according to the law. Then he says, "Behold, I come to do your will." He takes away the first to establish the second. By this "will," we have been consecrated through the offering of the body of Jesus Christ once for all.

Gospel Acclamation

Alleluia

Behold, I am the handmaid of the Lord. May it be done to me according to your word.

Gospel

Luke 1:39-45

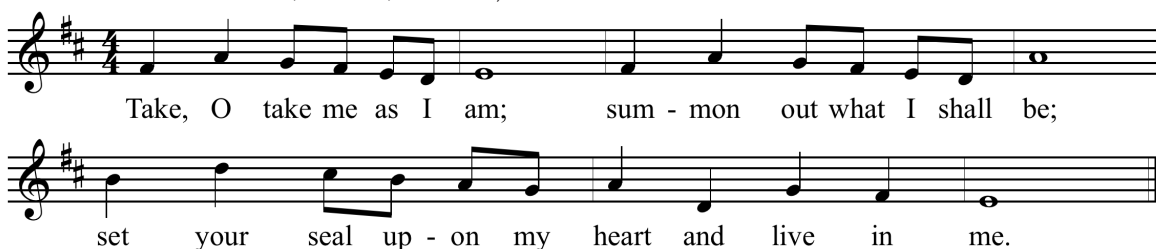

Mary set out and traveled to the hill country in haste to a town of Judah, where she entered the house of Zechariah and greeted Elizabeth. When Elizabeth heard Mary's greeting, the infant leaped in her womb, and Elizabeth, filled with the Holy Spirit, cried out in a loud voice and said, "Blessed are you among women, and blessed is the fruit of your womb. And how does this happen to me, that the mother of my Lord should come to me? For at the moment the sound of your greeting reached my ears, the infant in my womb leaped for joy. Blessed are you who believed that what was spoken to you by the Lord would be fulfilled."

Sa ganda ng umaga In the beauty of the morning
Nangungulila sa'yo sinta I long for you, dear one

Giliw ko sa aking sinapupunan Kay lapit Mo nang isilang

It's so cold at night in the wilderness
While the star is waiting
I caress my womb Because You are about to be born

Aming pakikipagsapalaran Upang makahanap ng tahanan
Abot-abot ang kaba sa dibdib Kay lapit Mo sa panganib

Our adventure To find a home
Chest throbbing is palpable Because You are close to

Oh, giliw kong Anak Tupad na pangarap ko
Pagsilay Mo sa ating mundo Maging tahanan ng mahirap

Oh, my dear Son My dream came true
Reflect on our world Be home to the poor
And Your heart is a fortress of woe

LGBTQ: It's All About Love

Telling Our Stories

by Theresa Shepherd-Lukasik

A few years ago, a dear pastor friend gave me an icon of the Holy Family and said, "this is for your holy family." It was such a simple gift, but the words rang in my heart, "Yes, my family is a holy family." That was the purpose of our marriage, to love God, to love each other, but through our love we felt called to serve the community of God together. We hoped the "fruit" of our love would extend beyond us one day to our children, either biologically or through adoption, but we also felt called to be "sisters" or "aunties" to our chosen family and members of the church.

At our wedding, the second reading was from Romans 12, in which we were promising to make our marriage an offering of service to God and to the community. Our love was never just for ourselves, but to be shared with our chosen family, the church, the family of God.

"Rejoice in hope, be patient in suffering, persevere in prayer. Contribute to the needs of the saints; extend hospitality to strangers. Bless those who persecute you; bless and do not curse them. Rejoice with those who rejoice, weep with those who weep. Live in harmony with one another." With these words, we aspired to be people of hope who extended hospitality to the community. As a gay couple, we knew that we'd experience resistance, both in our families and in the church, and yet we want to bless and pray for those who do so. We wanted to weep with those who weep, celebrate with those in joy, we wanted to be a couple who lives the beatitudes not just in our own marriage, but that our love would extend to the community around us.

As I contemplate the Holy Family, I think we tend to sentimentalize families and we make of them idyllic Hall-mark movie style families, but that was not reality for the holy family and nor for our own. Mary was an unwed mother, and Joseph was a father who confronts this scandal and wants to send her away quietly; and later on, they became refugees. In the holy family there was real suffering and struggles, yet they trusted in God, they were faithful to God, and they prayed together. Being a family is difficult - there are disagreements, hurts, and struggles, but there is also love, mercy, forgiveness, and joy, which become real signs of God's love in the world. God desires to come to us, to be with us in the messiness of our family, we acknowledge that we are not perfect, but God is with us and is manifest in our love.

After I was presented with the icon of the holy family, I began to see Holy Families everywhere: in refugee and immigrant families seeking work to support their families, in unhoused families looking for a safe place to lay their heads at night, in our parishioners, and in our queer families who adopt children, especially in families where the child is "of the flesh" of one of the parents (as Jesus was), and the spouse, like Joseph, raises the child as their own.

Chosen Families

By Chris Galloway

Not all LGBTQ folks are accepted by their birth families. Some have been told to get out and never come back. Some have been shunned not only by their parents, but also siblings and their entire extended family. Some parents have refused to acknowledge a beloved partner. Sometimes, family invitations continue, but the partner is specifically excluded. LGBTQ weddings can be ignored or seen as sinful. Funerals are especially painful when the deceased's family refuses to acknowledge a gay spouse or partner.

In the midst of judgment and rejection by families of origin, the desire for loving and welcoming families is very real and important. Hence, the concept of "chosen families." A friend told me "It's pretty simple. I choose to celebrate with people who love and accept me. People I like, who are like me. Gay people can pick who we want for family. I bet lots of people wish they could do that."

Chosen family does not mean substitute family. Chosen families are committed to each other, build their own traditions and ways of celebrating. Chosen families are all about love.

A friend I worked with told me about spending Thanksgivings with his chosen family in a house in the Alpine Lakes near Leavenworth. Together, they baked pies and rolls and cooked a turkey dinner with each one making his favorite side dish. They had leftovers to last through the weekend and hiked for hours. He told me about this the week after their 9th annual Thanksgiving in the mountains.

A group of friends I knew (a gay male couple, a lesbian couple and a straight couple) became each other's chosen local family. Each had loving family elsewhere but they celebrated holidays together at each other's homes. They explored the Northwest (Mt. St. Helens, the Olympic Coast, Port Townsend), cooking together, taking long walks, and always a big puzzle going on the dining table. They were part of each other's weddings - gay and straight - and saw each other through joy and sorrow, jobs and children, illness and death.

Holidays are about celebrating with family. All kinds of families- extended traditional families, nuclear families, blended families, chosen families, adopted families. All are part of God's family. All are children of God.

THE Antiphons

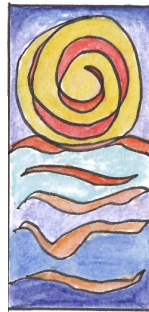

Sung in monasteries since at least the eighth century, these prayers begin the Magnificat canticle of Evening Prayer for December 17-23. Ancient biblical imagery draws from the Hebrew Scriptures to proclaim the coming Christ as the fulfillment of all our hopes. The repeated use of the imperative "Come!" embodies the longing of all for the Divine Messiah. We invite you to consider praying these antiphons as part of your evening meal prayer, or at the end of the day.

2021 is the last year for the $300 charitable deduction for non-itemizers!

Even if you don't itemize deductions, i.e. use the standard deduction, you can deduct up to $300 for donations made in cash that are paid directly to the charitable organization. This allows anybody to give, even in a small way, and reap the tax benefit. Online giving is an excellent way to capture a record of those donations.

Tax-free transfer from an IRA

If you are 70 or older, you can give up to $100,000 per year tax-free from your IRA to St. Joe's (called a qualified charitable distribution or QCD). The gift counts toward your required minimum distribution (RMD), but isn't included in adjusted gross income.

(Donors need not be required to take an RMD now or until age 72, but may still make a QCD. The distribution may be monthly, quarterly or annually. See your account holder for details.)

A double tax reduction by giving appreciated stock

In lieu of sending cash to St. Joe's, you may find greater tax benefits by giving appreciated stock. Holdings owned for more than a year may be deducted based on their value on the date donated. Non-itemizers still benefit from avoiding the capital gains tax on the stock.
