First Reading

1 Kings 19:16b, 19-21

The LORD said to Elijah: "You shall anoint Elisha, son of Shaphat of Abel-meholah, as prophet to succeed you." Elijah set out and came upon Elisha, son of Shaphat, as he was plowing with twelve yoke of oxen; he was following the twelfth. Elijah went over to him and threw his cloak over him. Elisha left the oxen, ran after Elijah, and said, "Please, let me kiss my father and mother goodbye, and I will follow you." Elijah answered, "Go back! Have I done anything to you?" Elisha left him, and taking the yoke of oxen, slaughtered them; he used the plowing equipment for fuel to boil their flesh, and gave it to his people to eat. Then Elisha left and followed Elijah as his attendant.

Psalm

Psalm 16

Guimont

Preserve me, O God, for in you I take refuge. I say to the LORD, "You are my Lord."
O LORD, it is you who are my portion and cup; you yourself who secure my lot. Ref.

I will bless the LORD who gives me counsel, who even at night directs my heart.
I keep the LORD before me always; with him at my right hand, I shall not be moved. Ref.

And so, my heart rejoices, my soul is glad; even my flesh shall rest in hope.
For you will not abandon my soul to hell, nor let your holy one see corruption. Ref.

You will show me the path of life, the fullness of joy in your presence, at your right hand, bliss forever. Ref.

Second Reading

Galatians 5:1, 13-18

Brothers and sisters: For freedom Christ set us free; so stand firm and do not submit again to the yoke of slavery.

For you were called for freedom, brothers and sisters. But do not use this freedom as an opportunity for the flesh; rather, serve one another through love. For the whole law is fulfilled in one statement, namely, "You shall love your neighbor as yourself." But if you go on biting and devouring one another, beware that you are not consumed by one another.

I say, then: live by the Spirit and you will certainly not gratify the desire of the flesh. For the flesh has desires against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh; these are opposed to each other, so that you may not do what you want. But if you are guided by the Spirit, you are not under the law.

Gospel Acclamation

O'Carroll/Walker

Speak, Lord, your servant is listening; you have the words of everlasting life.

When the days for Jesus' being taken up were fulfilled, he resolutely determined to journey to Jerusalem, and he sent messengers ahead of him. On the way they entered a Samaritan village to prepare for his reception there, but they would not welcome him because the destination of his journey was Jerusalem. When the disciples James and John saw this they asked, "Lord, do you want us to call down fire from heaven to consume them?" Jesus turned and rebuked them, and they journeyed to another village.

As they were proceeding on their journey someone said to him, "I will follow you wherever you go." Jesus answered him, "Foxes have dens and birds of the sky have nests, but the Son of Man has nowhere to rest his head." And to another he said, "Follow me." But he replied, "Lord, let me go first and bury my father." But he answered him, "Let the dead bury their dead. But you, go and proclaim the kingdom of God."

And another said, "I will follow you, Lord, but first let me say farewell to my family at home." To him Jesus said, "No one who sets a hand to the plow and looks to what was left behind is fit for the kingdom of God."

Homily

Mike Bayard, S.J.

Profession of Faith

I believe in one God, the Father almighty, maker of heaven and earth, of all things visible and invisible.
I believe in one Lord Jesus Christ, the Only Begotten Son of God, born of the Father before all ages.
God from God, Light from Light, true God from true God, begotten, not made, consubstantial with the Father;
through him all things were made.
For us (men) and for our salvation he came down from heaven,
All bow.
and by the Holy Spirit was incarnate of the Virgin Mary, and became man.
All stand upright.

For our sake he was crucified under Pontius Pilate, he suffered death and was buried,
and rose again on the third day in accordance with the Scriptures.
He ascended into heaven and is seated at the right hand of the Father.
He will come again in glory to judge the living and the dead and his kingdom will have no end.

I believe in the Holy Spirit, the Lord, the giver of life,
who proceeds from the Father and the Son,
who with the Father and the Son is adored and glorified,
who has spoken through the prophets.
I believe in one, holy, catholic and apostolic Church.
I confess one Baptism for the forgiveness of sins and I look forward to the resurrection of the dead and the life of the world to come. Amen.

Help Sisters in Poland Serve Blind Refugees from Ukraine

www.gofundme.com/f/laski-society-for-the-care-of-the-blind

Parishioner Maria Van Wollen writes this reflection and request for support of blind children fleeing the invasion of Ukraine:

In 1918, Blessed Mother Elizabeth Rose Czacka founded an order of Catholic nuns caring for blind children in Laski, a small town on the outskirts of Warsaw, Poland. Affected by the blindness herself, Mother Czacka worked tirelessly until her death in 1961 to help the children in her care integrate with broader society. I was born in Poland and my family has supported the Laski center ever since I can remember.

Today, the Society for Care of the Blind continues to be run by the Franciscan nuns, with four centers in Poland and two in Ukraine. Russia's war has displaced the Ukrainian children and their families, many of which have found refuge in Poland.

Taking in the Ukrainian children has overwhelmed the meagre resources of the Polish centers, and the Franciscan Sisters of Laski are in urgent need of financial support. The Polish government only provides limited funding for maintaining the school and paying salaries of the teaching staff. The living costs of the resident children and all other costs (supplies, equipment, clothing) are covered by donations from individuals and charitable institutions. With the arrival of so many refugees, the centers are dealing with an acute shortage of resources.

Your generosity can help the incredible work being done by the Franciscans in Laski to support the Ukrainian families, who are affected not only by blindness, but now also by a savage and unprovoked attack on their homeland.

ST. JOE'S CELEBRATES PRIDE

LGBTQ: It's All About Love: June 2022

Welcome Back! Time to celebrate LGBTQ Pride and tell our stories.

This column began as a way for Queer Catholics, your fellow parishioners, to share our stories and experiences with the rest of the church, the Body of Christ, hoping that our straight, gen-der-normative brothers and sisters, would see our faith and our lives as beloved of God as well. Telling our stories is about who we are, where we've been, and who we've become.

In this week's column we have invited Gee Seitz-Miller to share her story as a trans sister in Christ. Some of us are born into bodies we feel at home in, some of us are born into bodies that don't match who we are. Take a moment today to listen to the transgender community.

Butterflies: A Catholic Transgender Origin Story by Gee Seitz-Miller

Our growth as human beings is often marked by the unexpected, unplanned. A slowly building surprise, revelation. Divine Grace. Last summer, I began to sense my interior changing, my gender identity. As a "man" in "his" 60s, I never gave a second thought to my gender. But delicately and kindly, the Holy Spirit breathed to life a long dormant gender as female. The transgender community calls this affirmed moment "cracking the egg." For me it was September 15, 2021.

I don't see an endpoint to this journey into being a transwoman. Rather, an uncharted path into alignment with my God-created self—her mystery and beauty. Since cracking the egg, years of major depression and anxiety have blessedly lifted and I feel serenity with my friends, work colleagues, and fellow St. Joseph parishioners. I came out as a gay "man" in 1980 and I thought this was "set in stone." But the stones of a tomb I did not know I was living in were re-moved and I came out as transgender to friends, work colleagues, and parishioners in the last six months.

I am gradually learning how the "Greg" who is Gee is to be, and to be transgender. "Gee" was the name my family called my grandmother when I was growing up. She was a primary source of unconditional love in my childhood and adolescence—a spiritual awakening that my new name would be hers. With Gee, I am being female in how I am and present to the world and to you—in dress, earrings, polished nails, handbags, and soon, make-up and voice training.

All these changes are, to me, spiritual experiences—for it is my loving God who has called forth this butterfly to learn to fly, again. I hope that one day the Catholic Church will accept me as a transwoman, but I am grateful that I can walk into St. Joseph Church for Mass—somewhat fear-ful as I walk in, but my breathing starts to slow as I sit down to pray with all of you, "ignited by the Eucharist to love and serve"—to love all of me, to love and serve all of you.

ST. JOE'S CELEBRATES PRIDE

I pray for young people who are coming out as trans and have no one to talk to. I pray for the young people who live in states that punish and ostracize trans youth by their laws and policies, denying medical care so that they can authentically be their God-given selves. I grieve for them and their parents having to navigate finding care in such hate and violence. I feel pride in who I am; I pray that someday they can as well.

I look forward to more Divine revelations in my female gender identity in the weeks and months ahead. I do not know what is next and that's ok for I know the Trinity is with me. We are all in the family of God's children—all trying to be our God-created authentic beautiful selves. Let us be beautiful butter-flies together!

Scripture: Matthew 17:1-5 After six days Jesus took with him Peter, James, and John the brother of James, and led them up a high mountain by themselves. There he was transfigured before them. His face shone like the sun, and his clothes became as white as the light. Just then there appeared before them Moses and Elijah, talking with Jesus.

Peter said to Jesus, "Lord, it is good for us to be here. If you wish, I will put up three shelters—one for you, one for Moses and one for Elijah."

While he was still speaking, a bright cloud covered them, and a voice from the cloud said, "This is my Son, whom I love; with him I am well pleased. Listen to him!"
