Bringing up the Oils - George Stein, Nelly Vance, and Marti Spicer

Kept in the ambry, near the altar, the three Sacred Oils of the Church, which were blessed by the Archbishop at the Chrism Mass in the Cathedral, are carried in procession and received into St. Joseph. The Oil of the Catechumen, used to bless those preparing for entry into the church; the Oil of the Sick, used for the Sacrament of Anointing; and the Sacred Chrism, used for the Sacraments of Baptism, Confirmation, and Ordination are brought forward by those who have received, or will soon receive, their blessing.

As each oil is presented, all respond: Thanks be to God.

Gloria

Lynch

1. We praise you,
we bless you,
we adore you,
we glorify you,
we give you thanks for your great glory,
Lord God, heavenly King,
O God, almighty Father.

2. Lord Jesus Christ, Only Begotten Son,
Lord God, Lamb of God, Son of the Father,
you take away the sins of the world,
have mercy on us;
you take away the sins of the world,
receive our prayer;
you are seated at the right hand of the Father,
have mercy on us.

3. For you alone are the Holy One,
you alone are the Lord,
you alone are the Most High,
Jesus Christ,
with the Holy Spirit,
in the glory of God the Father.
Amen.

First Reading

Exodus 12:1-8, 11-14

The LORD said to Moses and Aaron in the land of Egypt, "This month shall stand at the head of your calendar; you shall reckon it the first month of the year. Tell the whole community of Israel: On the tenth of this month every one of your families must procure for itself a lamb, one apiece for each household. If a family is too small for a whole lamb, it shall join the nearest household in procuring one and shall share in the lamb in proportion to the number of persons who partake of it. The lamb must be a year-old male and without blemish. You may take it from either the sheep or the goats. You shall keep it until the fourteenth day of this month, and then, with the whole assembly of Israel present, it shall be slaughtered during the evening twilight. They shall take some of its blood and apply it to the two doorposts and the lintel of every house in which they partake of the lamb. That same night they shall eat its roasted flesh with unleavened bread and bitter herbs.

"This is how you are to eat it: with your loins girt, sandals on your feet and your staff in hand, you shall eat like those who are in flight. It is the Passover of the LORD. For on this same night I will go through Egypt, striking down every firstborn of the land, both man and beast, and executing judgment on all the gods of Egypt—I, the LORD! But the blood will mark the houses where you are. Seeing the blood, I will pass over you; thus, when I strike the land of Egypt, no destructive blow will come upon you.

"This day shall be a memorial feast for you, which all your generations shall celebrate with pilgrimage to the LORD, as a perpetual institution."

Psalm

Psalm 116: Our Blessing Cup

Haugen

Our bless-ing cup is a com - mun - ion with the blood of the Lord.

How can I make a return to the Lord for all God has done for me?
The cup of salvation I will take up, I will call on the name of the Lord.

Precious, indeed, in the sight of the Lord is the death of his faithful ones;
and I am your servant, your chosen one, for you have set me free.

Unto your name I will offer my thanks for the debt that I owe to you.
In the presence of all who have called on your name, in the courts of the house of the Lord.

Second Reading

1 Corinthians 11:23-26

Brothers and sisters: I received from the Lord what I also handed on to you, that the Lord Jesus, on the night he was handed over, took bread, and, after he had given thanks, broke it and said, "This is my body that is for you. Do this in remembrance of me." In the same way also the cup, after supper, saying, "This cup is the new covenant in my blood. Do this, as often as you drink it, in remembrance of me." For as often as you eat this bread and drink the cup, you proclaim the death of the Lord until he comes.

Gospel Acclamation

Proulx

Glo - ry to you, O Word of God, Lord Je - sus Christ!

I give you a new commandment, says the Lord: love one another as I have loved you.

Gospel

John 13:1-15

Before the feast of Passover, Jesus knew that his hour had come to pass from this world to the Father. He loved his own in the world and he loved them to the end. The devil had already induced Judas, son of Simon the Iscariot, to hand him over. So, during supper, fully aware that the Father had put everything into his power and that he had come from God and was returning to God, he rose from supper and took off his outer garments. He took a towel and tied it around his waist. Then he poured water into a basin and began to wash the disciples' feet and dry them with the towel around his waist. He came to Simon Peter, who said to him, "Master, are you going to wash my feet?" Jesus answered and said to him, "What I am doing, you do not understand now, but you will understand later." Peter said to him, "You will never wash my feet." Jesus answered him, "Unless I wash you, you will have no inheritance with me." Simon Peter said to him, "Master, then not only my feet, but my hands and head as well." Jesus said to him, "Whoever has bathed has no need except to have his feet washed, for he is clean all over; so you are clean, but not all." For he knew who would betray him; for this reason, he said, "Not all of you are clean."

So when he had washed their feet and put his garments back on and reclined at table again, he said to them, "Do you realize what I have done for you? You call me 'teacher' and 'master,' and rightly so, for indeed I am. If I, therefore, the master and teacher, have washed your feet, you ought to wash one another's feet. I have given you a model to follow, so that as I have done for you, you should also do."

The Washing of Feet (Mandatum)

On the night before his death, Jesus set an example of mercy for his disciples by washing their feet, an act usually done by slaves. The Kingdom of God comes not by our power, authority, or right, but by service. Tonight we remember and celebrate Christ's mercy by sharing this ancient tradition. Each of us is called through Baptism into intimacy with God and one another. Each of us is called to imitate Jesus by serving with humility and compassion and by receiving the service of others. Through this ritual, we strengthen our bonds of love and commitment as we continue to strive to be disciples of Jesus in the world.

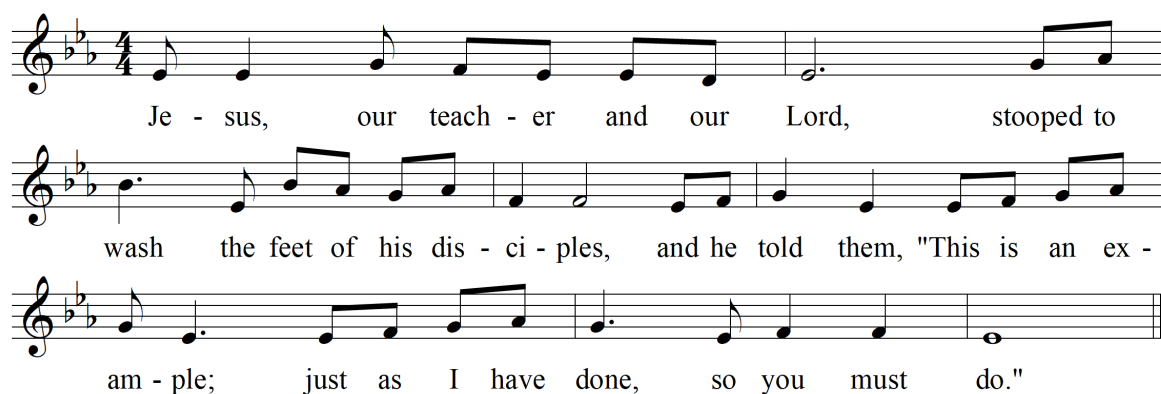

Deacon Steve, and Fr. Matthew will wash the feet of our Elect and candidates, after their feet are washed, they will wash the feet of people representing the various ministries of service in our parish.

The love of Christ joins us together. Let us rejoice in him, and in our love and care for all now love God in return.

In true communion let us gather May all divisions cease and in their place be Christ the Lord, our risen Prince of Peace.

May we who gather at this table to share the bread of life become a sacrament of love, your healing touch, O Christ.

For those in need make us your mercy, for those oppressed, your might.
Make us, your Church, a holy sign of justice and new life.

Our collection tonight will benefit Catholic Relief Services "Rice Bowl" collection. Rice Bowl helps communities all over the world as well as neighbors right here in our diocese.

Procession of the Most Blessed Sacrament

In a tradition that goes back to the 13th century, the Blessed Sacrament is now carried in solemn procession through the assembly to the altar of repose. Consecrated at this Mass, what is carried from the altar will be used for the celebration of Communion during the Good Friday services, since no Mass may be offered on that day.

During the procession, the community is asked to sing the "Pange Lingua Gloriosi" (which means, "Sing My Tongue The Savior's Glory")—a hymn written by St. Thomas Aquinas in honor of the great gift of this Sacrament.

Please kneel, if you can,
during the procession of the Blessed Sacrament, as the Ministers pass through the church.

Stripping of the Altar

After the procession of the Blessed Sacrament, all are invited to be seated. In an ancient ritual, calling to mind the Passion of Jesus, arrested and stripped of his glory, the altar is stripped—the candles extinguished, the cloth removed, the tabernacle left open. The ministers exit through the south transept. You are invited to meditate and pray following the stripping of the altar, We return to continue the three-day Triduum Liturgy tomorrow evening, with our Good Friday service. As you depart, please maintain the silence by which we honor these holy mysteries.

STEWARDSHIP

Stewardship is recognizing that everything we have is a gift from God. It's living a life of gratitude — taking the time every day to recognize the gifts that God has given and to be grateful for them.

As many of us gathered for our first-ever Fish Fry celebration, there was a collective acknowledgement of how blessed we truly are as a parish community. The amazing turnout, joyous conversations, and excitement to share a meal together was evident. One part of the evening that particularly stood out to me was the comments from visitors and newcomers who were overwhelmed by our genuine fellowship and hospitality. Once again, we have been richly blessed by our loving God.

Over these past three years, we've borne all the changes and upheaval that have come our way as a community, and unflinchingly stayed the course. I've seen your dedication and determination to this parish throughout everything, so much of it beyond our control. But the one constant I've witnessed at St. Joseph is how the community responds to our Outreach Partners when they need help. Whether it's food and volunteers for St. Francis House, sandwiches and snacks for Facing Homelessness, or building and stocking the Community Fridge, St. Joseph always answers the call.

As we gather this Easter, if you are able, please consider a gift for to St. Joe's so we can continue these wonderful ministries (and many others!). Your financial support enables us to do far more than provide upkeep for our church campus - it is also the pathway for all our ministries, outreach, and mission.
