*These are the names
of the women & men
for whom we have prayed
during the last year.*

*Hail holy Queen, Mother of mercy, hail, our life, our sweetness, & our hope.
To you do we cry, poor banished children of Eve, to you do we send forth our sighs,

Remembering Our Beloved Dead

"Book of the Names of the Dead" & the "Saints Corner"

Christian communities remember the names of their dead. November is called the Month of All Souls and the dead are remembered in prayer.

As in previous years you are invited to bring photos of your loved ones to help create a shrine or "Saints Corner" to be located in the baptistery in the north transept of the church. This will be maintained as a sacred space for contemplation and prayer throughout the month of November until Advent begins on November 28.

Additionally you are invited to write the names of your departed loved ones in the "Book of the Names of the Dead" located at the entrance to the church.

Please bring your photos on All Saints Weekend to the baptistery and place them in the box. Be sure to write contact information on the back of the photo so it can be returned to you after November.

To Break Bread with the Dead

It falsifies the Christian message to present and to preach Christianity as essentially life-affirming—without referring this affirmation to the death of Christ, and therefore to the very fact of death; to pass over in silence the fact that for Christianity death is not only the end, but, indeed, the very reality of the world. . . For Christianity proclaims that Christ died for the life of the world, and not for “eternal rest” from it.

-Alexander Schmemmann-

Through art, we are able to break bread with the dead, and without communion with the dead, a fully human life is impossible.

-W.H. Auden-

They come to me, sometimes, in my dreams—and these are my favorite dreams, the ones where I am suddenly with my father in a car; or with my mother, helping her into the house or talking to her about my life; where I am sitting on a bench overlooking the ocean, with my sister beside me; or walking along a stream, near Mt. Hood, with my best friend at my side. I love these dreams, these brief visions of the dead, even though I know that they do not belong here, that they have already gone to join all the ancestors and live in the presence of God. Yet, for that moment of visitation, I hear their voice again and sense their grace and gift, which has never left me, and I am blessed.

Of the many things I love about Catholicism, I especially love that we acknowledge the dead—acknowledge both the painful reality of their passing, and our faith that their life and their love cannot finally be overcome by something as empty as death. As Christians, we do not seek to hide from death or suffering; rather, we affirm these human realities, even as we deny their absolute power. In the face of death, we proclaim that we are a people made for resurrection, made for life that does not end in the emptiness of a grave. Standing in the shadow of the cross of Jesus, we embrace a God who reaches into this world not to eliminate death, but to destroy its power; who calms our fear of suffering through the suffering of His own Son. In the death and resurrection of Jesus, God reveals that our love, and the love of those we hold dear, is stronger than death, more lasting than the grave. Love triumphs over death, not by denying or avoiding it, but by carrying us through the suffering, by stripping away all that is fear or selfishness, and bringing us to our truest self. In death, we are heirs of the old Adam, who hid in the Garden from God; but in the resurrection, we become heirs of the new Adam, who accepts the worst that sin can throw at him, and yet never hides in the bushes nor fails in his mission to love.

As we begin November, a month dedicated to the memory of our beloved dead—those we call saints and those we only knew as “on the way”—we are invited, again, to embrace the grace of our mortality. While we all will die, our death is now united to the death of Christ Jesus. Thus, though sickness and suffering are real, though death may bring sorrow for those who are separated, though the anguish of death may bring tears and nearly unbearable grief; yet, we are not overcome, because Christ himself shares in our death. And in this sharing, we are assured of a God who understands our plight, who weeps with us and who suffers with us in all our loss and pain. Our death unites us to the life of Jesus, the life he chose to live so that nothing human could escape him. And in sharing his life, we also share in his fulfillment, finding in our death, and the death of those we love, the promise of an eternal relationship—in which our identity and humanity is redeemed, not lost; and where we come to live fully the life of love that burns within us, and yearns for such fulfillment.

This weekend we will celebrate the Solemnity of All Saints, the beginning of a month in which we shall remember the dead as part of our own story, as part of our life, even now. Let us embrace these days and embrace those we hold now only in our memory. For though there may be sorrow, these memories are a pledge of our communion with all who have gone before, and a promise of the fullness that awaits.

Today, I know that my mother and my father are loving me. I know it as surely as I know that I love my nieces, as surely as I know that my nieces love me. For I know that my parents, and all of us, are embraced in eternity, and engaged with a community of love that pours out from God as from its source. In praying for and with our beloved dead, let us all be inspired to love, i.e., let us receive our share of the Spirit, who raised Jesus from the dead and holds each of us in love, now and always.

First Reading

Revelation 7:2-4, 9-14

I, John, saw another angel come up from the East, holding the seal of the living God. He cried out in a loud voice to the four angels who were given power to damage the land and the sea, "Do not damage the land or the sea or the trees until we put the seal on the foreheads of the servants of our God." I heard the number of those who had been marked with the seal, one hundred and forty-four thousand marked from every tribe of the children of Israel.

After this I had a vision of a great multitude, which no one could count, from every nation, race, people, and tongue. They stood before the throne and before the Lamb, wearing white robes and holding palm branches in their hands. They cried out in a loud voice: "Salvation comes from our God, who is seated on the throne, and from the Lamb."

All the angels stood around the throne and around the elders and the four living creatures. They prostrated themselves before the throne, worshiped God, and exclaimed: "Amen. Blessing and glory, wisdom and thanksgiving, honor, power, and might be to our God forever and ever. Amen."

Then one of the elders spoke up and said to me, "Who are these wearing white robes, and where did they come from?" I said to him, "My lord, you are the one who knows." He said to me, "These are the ones who have survived the time of great distress; they have washed their robes and made them white in the Blood of the Lamb."

Responsorial Psalm

Lord, This is the People

Carroll

Second Reading

1 John 3:1-3

Beloved: See what love the Father has bestowed on us that we may be called the children of God. Yet so we are. The reason the world does not know us is that it did not know him. Beloved, we are God's children now; what we shall be has not yet been revealed. We do know that when it is revealed we shall be like him, for we shall see him as he is. Everyone who has this hope based on him makes himself pure, as he is pure.

Gospel Acclamation

Celtic Alleluia

O'Carroll/Walker

Gospel

Matthew 5:1-12a

When Jesus saw the crowds, he went up the mountain, and after he had sat down, his disciples came to him. He began to teach them, saying:

"Blessed are the poor in spirit,
for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

Blessed are they who mourn,
for they will be comforted.

Blessed are the meek,
for they will inherit the land.

Blessed are they who hunger and thirst for righteousness,
for they will be satisfied.

Blessed are the merciful,
for they will be shown mercy.

Blessed are the clean of heart,
for they will see God.

Blessed are the peacemakers,
for they will be called children of God.

Blessed are they who are persecuted for the sake of righteousness,
for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

Blessed are you when they insult you and persecute you and utter every kind of evil against you falsely because of me. Rejoice and be glad, for your reward will be great in heaven."

And the Lord said, Come home; answer my call.

For my Spirit makes home deep in your soul.
 When the night speaks of fear, my love is here.
 Come from the dark. Yearn for the light. Home. Come home.

At the hearth of the world, rest, says the Lord.
 Know I hold you from harm. Rest at my side.
 Weary the day. Peaceful the dawn. Home. Come home.

Recessional

Instrumental

And so, these people who are suffering so much today because of the selfishness of destroyers, of our brothers destroyers, these people struggle onwards with the Beatitudes, with the hope of finding God, of coming face-to-face with the Lord in the hope of becoming saints, at the moment of our final encounter with Him.

May the Lord help us and give us the grace of this hope, but also the grace of courage to emerge from all this destruction, devastation, the relativism of life, the exclusion of others, exclusion of values, exclusion of all that the Lord has given us: the exclusion of peace. May he deliver us from this, and give us the grace to walk in the hope of finding ourselves one day face-to-face with Him. And this hope, brothers and sisters, does not disappoint!

LITURGY AND WORSHIP

Liturgy & Worship Survey

One of the parish commissions is the Liturgy and Worship Commission and one branch of our stated mission is "evaluating and discerning the on-going worship of the People of God." To that end, beginning next weekend we will initiate the first of twice yearly evaluations of our liturgical life. This evaluative tool is designed to assist the pastor and parish staff in understanding the aspects of liturgy that support parishioners in active and meaningful participation in the liturgy. We want to know what elements of how we celebrate Mass together help deepen your experience of worship and/or your engagement in the community. We also want to hear from you about elements of our worship together that take away from your experience, that you have questions about and/or that you find distracting.

In undertaking this survey, we acknowledge that we are a diverse community. What may be inspiring for some people, may be distracting for others. Our intention is to use this feedback to affirm those things which deepen our community worship experience. We also want to determine whether there are elements of how we worship that might benefit from some changes. Because we have several Sunday liturgies, there is room to incorporate a variety of preferences related to style of music and atmosphere. We will be looking at shared themes once the survey results are compiled.

This is intended to be primarily an online survey which will make collating and sharing of data much easier than having to compile and collate data from several hundred written surveys. However, for those who do not have access to a computer there will be written evaluations available from the receptionist in the Parish Center.

The survey will be "live" at the parish website starting next Saturday, Nov. 7 at 6 pm and will conclude two weeks later at midnight on Sunday, Nov. 22. Paper surveys must be dropped off by 7 pm on Nov. 22. After the information is compiled the liturgy commission will gather to explore the range of responses, to seek out what there is to be learned from the results and how best to interpret them. The commission will then present an executive summary to the parish after the new year and the evaluation process will be repeated in the late spring.

SU Choir - Join us!

Seattle University Chorale has made St. Joseph their home for over twenty years now. Under the direction of Dr. Joy Sherman and Dr. Lee Peterson this group of 100 singers sings a Christmas Concert on the weekend of Dec. 5 and a Spring Concert in April as part of our Saint Joseph "Ad Majorem Dei Gloriam" Concert Series. As part of the arrangement between Saint Joseph and Seattle University the Chamber Singers, a smaller ensemble of the entire chorale, will sing the 9 am mass next Sunday, November 8th. Please give these students a warm welcome!

The Rosary At St. Joseph

Praying the Rosary can help us face the often harsh realities of life with hope and grace. Pray the Rosary at St. Joseph for the first time or the thousandth. People will help guide those who are just learning. Bring your own Rosary beads, count on your fingers or use a smart-phone app such as iRosary.

Everyone is welcome to pray the Rosary,
Mondays from 7 to 8 pm
in the Parish Center
Loyola Chapel

Sacred Silence

The Sacred Silence prayer group gathers on Monday nights at 7 pm in the Church for an hour of silent prayer. Newcomers always welcome. Open to all types of prayer practice. People are encouraged to use whatever silent prayer practice works best for them whether it is centering prayer, Ignatian imagination or another prayer. For information on Sacred Silence and silent prayer contact Jim Hoover at sacredsilence@stjosephparish.org or 206-286-0313.

Parish Holy Hour

Thursday, November 5th, 7- 8 pm, join the Choose Life Ministry for a Rosary with Exposition of the Blessed Sacrament, in the Loyola Chapel of the Parish Center. Refreshments to follow. All are welcome!

You can arrange for gifts to come to the parish through electronic fund transfer, set up your credit card to be charged a certain amount at a frequency of your choosing, or use the small envelopes provided by the parish. - In-kind gifts can provide items that our community partners desperately need such as toiletries, paper products, baby items, clothing, and the like. Contact our outreach partners regarding contributions of goods and services or bring food items to Mass for our special collections.

The prayer shawl ministry has made many beautiful shawls and blankets that have been given to parish members, many attending Healing Masses at St. Joseph, friends and relatives of parish members, as well as patients at Northwest Hospital.

Our ministry typically meets the first Tuesday of each month in the Parish Center from 7-8:30 pm. The next meeting is November 3rd. We spend that time in prayer and friendship, while knitting or crocheting our blankets and shawls. We welcome all levels of experience, even people who would like to learn to knit or crochet as we have members who would be happy to teach and mentor at the gatherings.

If you or someone you know is in need of a prayer shawl or blanket, please request one in person or via a phone call to the Parish Center at 206-324-2522. If you have any questions, would like to join our ministry, or need help getting started knitting or crocheting, please contact Jennifer Rothmeyer at either jenniferrothmeyer@hotmail.com or 206-310-1098.

The Jesuit Youth Saints:

John Berchmans, Stanislaus Kostka, Aloysius Gonzaga

South Mid-Nave, Alcove

Many of the alcoves of St. Joseph Church are thematic, including the alcove in the south-central part of the nave. Here are the windows of three Jesuits, all of whom died very young & who have become the Jesuit patron saints of youth. Very different, they shared zeal for God.

John Berchmans (1599-1621) did nothing extraordinary, but did all with extraordinary care & love. Born poor, pulled from school because of family need, he later was admitted to a new Jesuit school where he came to love the Jesuits & joined as a novice; after two years he took first vows, but became ill soon after & died. His simple prayer (note the rosary) and devotion (i.e., the JHS) made him beloved, & he was named a saint & patron of students (note the book on the altar)

Stanislaus Kostka (1550-1568) was perhaps the opposite of Berchmans. Born to Polish nobility, he was sent to a Jesuit school in Vienna at 14. At 15, he became very ill & had a vision of an angel bringing him Eucharist (note the window). He wanted to enter the Jesuits & walked 450 miles to meet Peter Canisius (later a saint, too), who sent him to Rome. He grew ill as a novice (why he is not dressed in a cassock) & died at 18, in the novitiate, & so became the patron saint of novices.

Aloysius Gonzaga (1568-1591) was another son of a noble family—a family related to the Medici—who came to the Jesuits out of love for Christ & to the dismay of his family. Finding a book by Peter Canisius (who had welcomed Kostka), he became attracted to the Society, and later, while praying before an image of Mary, saw that God was calling him. Though his father tried to stop him, he renounced his inheritance (note the crown in the window), & joined in Rome at 17. After his first studies, he worked tirelessly in Rome among plague victims, where he grew sick & died at 23. He is patron of scholastics & AIDS patients.
