Take a breath.

If your life is anything like mine, it has been a difficult two weeks. And yet, in the midst of all the madness of politics and pain, of riots and refugees, the grace of God still abides in the world, and, as the Jesuit, Gerard Manley Hopkins, writes, "though the last lights of the black West went / O, morning, at the brown brink eastward springs—/ Because the Holy Ghost over the bent / World broods with warm breast and with ah! bright wings."

In that spirit, I invite you to take a breath. And I offer you a little bit of rigamarole—a prayer written for this year's St. Joseph School Auction. The theme was Mad Men—which seemed oddly appropriate in the wake of the election. I chose to offer a prayer that reminds us that we have been through much since the 1960's, and God has led us here. We will be okay—with work, with companionship, with love. I hope you enjoy this prayer. It isn't Hopkins, but I hope it gives us a chance to breathe on the way to Thanksgiving.

A Prayer for St. Joseph Auction

Beneath the shadow of the Bomb,
When Cuba was our foe,
And East Berlin was poised for war,
If Khrushchev gave the go.

While wars of liberation raged,
And Empires depart,
In Indochina France withdraws,
And we take up her part.

With just a few advisors there,
What mischief could it do?
For we can stop the communists,
In 1962.

And on the homefront there are tales
Of violence in the South,
When Rosa Parks refused to stand,
And sheriff's dragged her out.

In Birmingham a preacher's jailed,
Whose name is Martin King,
And freedom riders head down south,
While Dylan starts to sing.

And those up north are scandalized,
By Dixie's awful fight,
And feel themselves superior,
In suburbs lily white.

Meanwhile in Rome the Good Pope John,
A Council has convened,
And all the red and purple boys,
Show up at Peter's scene.

They throw the windows open wide,
To let in air and light,
And make the Church more relevant,
But not without a fight.

When they propose that we're the Church,
You hear the old men roar,
And when they use the people's tongue,
They say, "You've sold the store."

But wars and race and Councils, too,
Were not for us to fret,
For we were watching tv shows
That taught us to forget.

Gunsmoke, Bonanza, Twilight Zone,
Or Leave it to the Beav,
All held us fast within their spell,
And never would deceive.

But guide us towards commercial breaks,
When heroes tell us, "Buy,"
And we would never question him,
Why, he's our favorite guy!

One show sells us on Pepsodent,
To make our teeth so white,
Or All to fix the collar ring,
That is an awful blight.

Halitosis was created,
Listerine its cure,
The Ajax Knight, stronger than dirt,
Kept all the suburbs pure.

And young "Don Drapers" wove a web,
Of advertising charm,
With 3-Martini lunches,
That never did them harm.

We were the best and brightest then,
In Camelot, it seemed,
And nothing was impossible,
When every dream was dreamed.

Before the shots in Dallas rang,
And dreams were overthrown,
Before to Vietnam went dads,
Whose children are now grown.

When women all were "Babes" and "Chicks"
And smoking was still cool,
We'd sip our Scotch and puff Pall-Malls,
And scope the steno pool.

Tonight we play the past, O God,
And wear our 60's clothes,
In tuxes sharp and gowns aglow,
We emulate its pose.

But this, you know, is just a game,
Of dress-up and pretend,
To make St. Joseph strong for all:
That is our real end.

So at our school each girl and boy,
Might find a guiding grace,
And that the future might be theirs,
No matter creed or race.

We build a school through many hands,
And many gifts this night,
Open hearts and wallets, God,
This future to ignite.

Make of us mad men, one and all,
And women, madly bless,
That all might hold St. Joseph dear,
With bidding, unsuppressed

Then generations yet to come
Will look on us and know,
We asked not what St. Joe's could do,
But what we could do for St. Joe's.
Amen.

And for those of you who may need a prayer for your Thanksgiving dinner our traditional St. Joseph Parish blessing:

A Thanksgiving Blessing

*For bread & meat set down before us,
For hands that plant & bring the harvest,
For rainy days that green the hillside,
For breathless nights of winter moonrise
For star & sun & earth & woodland,
For joy & hope & tears of welcome,
For all the people gathered round us,
For all those who have slipped our compass,
For gifts enough that we can share,
For hearts enlarged by love & cheer,
For Mary's Son who joins our feasting,
For Spirit shared with love unceasing,
For all the blessings we are given,
For all the grace from here to heaven,
We give you thanks & praise & glory,
Great Author of our life & story.
Be with us now & bless all living,
That every day may be Thanksgiving!*

Amen.

Blessings to all of you, and if you can't make it to St.
Joseph on Thanksgiving, know we are praying with you, wherever you are.

First Reading

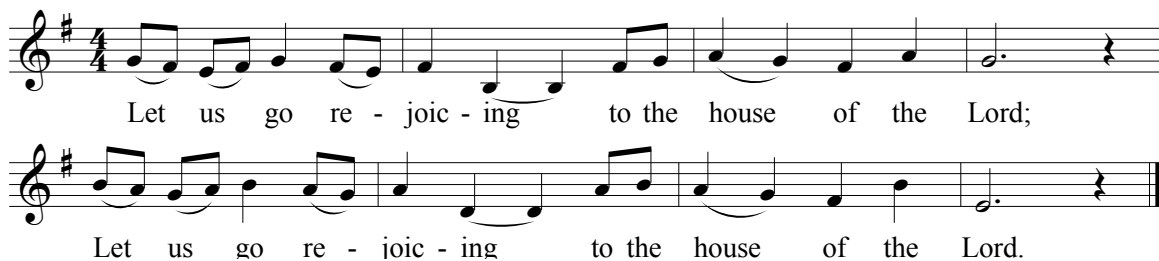

2 Samuel 5:1-3

In those days, all the tribes of Israel came to David in Hebron and said: "Here we are, your bone and your flesh. In days past, when Saul was our king, it was you who led the Israelites out and brought them back. And the LORD said to you, 'You shall shepherd my people Israel and shall be commander of Israel.'" When all the elders of Israel came to David in Hebron, King David made an agreement with them there before the LORD, and they anointed him king of Israel

Responsorial Psalm

Psalm 122

Second Reading

Colossians 1:12-20

Brothers and sisters: Let us give thanks to the Father, who has made you fit to share in the inheritance of the holy ones in light. He delivered us from the power of darkness and transferred us to the kingdom of his beloved Son, in whom we have redemption, the forgiveness of sins.

He is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn of all creation. For in him were created all things in heaven and on earth, the visible and the invisible, whether thrones or dominions or principalities or powers; all things were created through him and for him. He is before all things, and in him all things hold together. He is the head of the body, the church. He is the beginning, the firstborn from the dead, that in all things he himself might be preeminent. For in him all the fullness was pleased to dwell, and through him to reconcile all things for him, making peace by the blood of his cross through him, whether those on earth or those in heaven.

Gospel

Luke 23:35-43

The rulers sneered at Jesus and said, "He saved others, let him save himself if he is the chosen one, the Christ of God." Even the soldiers jeered at him. As they approached to offer him wine they called out, "If you are King of the Jews, save yourself." Above him there was an inscription that read, "This is the King of the Jews."

Now one of the criminals hanging there reviled Jesus, saying, "Are you not the Christ? Save yourself and us." The other, however, rebuking him, said in reply, "Have you no fear of God, for you are subject to the same condemnation? And indeed, we have been condemned justly, for the sentence we received corresponds to our crimes, but this man has done nothing criminal." Then he said, "Jesus, remember me when you come into your kingdom." He replied to him, "Amen, I say to you, today you will be with me in Paradise."

Choral Anthem: Let All The World In Every Corner Sing Herbert/Lang

Let all the world in every corner sing, my God and King!
The heavens are not too high, his praise may thither fly, the earth is not too low, his praises there may grow.
Let all the world in every corner sing, my God and King!

Let all the world in every corner sing, my God and King!
The church with psalms must shout, no door can keep them out;
but, above all, the heart must bear the longest part.
Let all the world in every corner sing, my God and King!

Communion Prayer

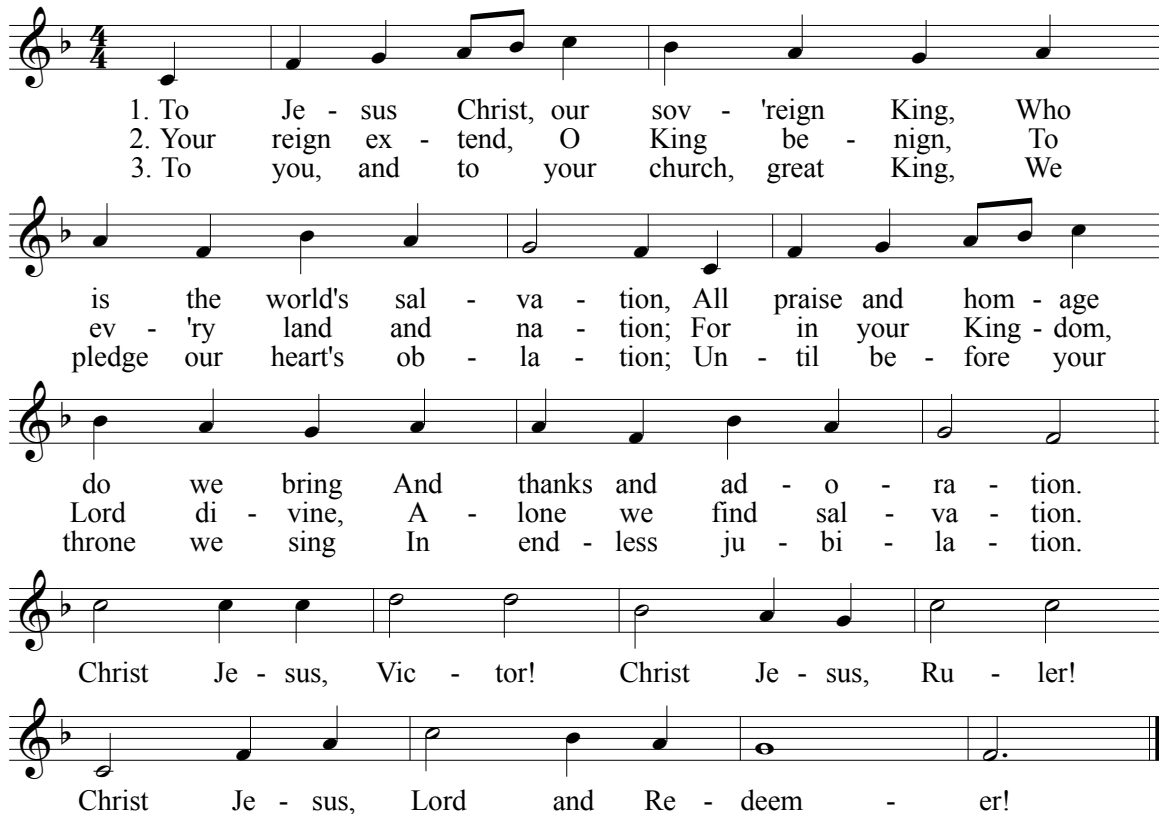

Live Mercy

Lord Jesus Christ,
you have taught us to be merciful,
as the heavenly Father is merciful.
Help us to live mercy every day of our lives,
through the compassion we show to your beloved ones:
to the migrant and the refugee,
to the homeless and the wounded,
to those forgotten by this world,
but remembered always in your love.
May the mercy we receive bear fruit in us, nourishing us with joy and bringing us communion with you.
May it allow us to become the sacrament of mercy,
the Church, who consecrates the world to you,
who live and reign with the Father,
in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God forever and ever. Amen.

Liturgy & Worship Survey

This weekend begins the second week of the St. Joseph online liturgy evaluation sponsored by the parish Liturgy and Worship Commission. This evaluative tool is designed to assist the pastor and parish staff in understanding the aspects of liturgy that support parishioners in active and meaningful participation in the liturgy. We want to know what elements of how we celebrate Mass together help deepen your experience of worship and/or your engagement in the community. We also want to hear from you about elements of our worship together that take away from your experience, that you have questions about and/or that you find distracting.

The survey is currently "live" on the parish website. Simply go to the parish website at <https://www.stjosephparish.org> and click on the link right there on the front page. The evaluation will conclude at midnight on Sunday, November 27th. If you do not have access to a computer or would prefer to fill out a paper evaluation, you can pick one up from the receptionist at the Parish Center. Paper surveys must be dropped off by 7 pm on November 27th. Your feedback is important so thank you for taking the time to fill out an evaluation.

CCS Weekend At St. Joseph

Every day, we come together as one Catholic community in an effort to offer hope and joy to those most in need within our communities. Through our shared efforts and commitment, Catholic Community Services and Catholic Housing Services are able to provide care to over 108,000 people each year throughout Western Washington.

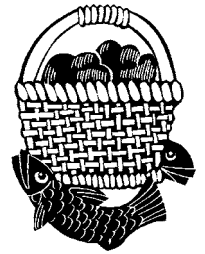

- The homeless and hungry are sheltered and fed
- Families move into safe homes and communities
- Vulnerable elders are cared for and able to remain in their homes
- Children and teens find safety and security they need to thrive

Your gifts are used locally to provide essential services and programs for people desperately in need. As good stewards of your gifts, 92 cents of every dollar CCS spends goes directly to those in need. Please visit their website at www.ccsww.org for more information.

In many different ways and with great hope and faith, we fight to overcome the injustice of poverty and homelessness. Because of God's grace and love for us, we reach out to others in our communities who so deeply need our love and compassion. Through our shared efforts we are living examples of God's presence and love for all people.

"Poverty calls us to sow hope."
~Pope Francis

The election results are unexpected and challenging for all of us concerned about God's Creation. We invite you to join your friends and colleagues from Earth Ministry for a post-election de-brief and discussion of the best way forward after a polarizing and negative season.

Earth Ministry has led the faith-based environmental movement for almost 30 years, and has been a loyal promoter of the message of Pope Francis and the encyclical Laudato Si. This conversation, sponsored by St. Joseph's, Christ our Hope and St. James, will include an analysis of election results by Jessie Dye and Emily Martin, Catholic staff at Earth Ministry. An RSVP is not necessary but is appreciated to emily@earthministry.org
