Community Spotlight

Each week, we've been bringing you a profile of a member of the St. Joseph Pastoral and Mission Council. This week, we're debuting a new series, Community Spotlight. In this series, we'll be highlighting innovative work that parishioners are doing around the community. Look for profiles of more community work, including the St. Vincent de Paul Society, in future bulletins. If you have an idea for a community spotlight, contact Mark at markp@stjosephparish.org.

This week's feature is Ethnic Cultural Heritage Online Exchange (echoX), an online conversational platform for ethnic culture communities to engage with each other, as well as the general public, in awareness of the shared spaces we inhabit, both digital and geographic.

EchoX intentionally creates a platform to highlight and amplify our region's ethnic cultural community voices. Peter Lam, a parishioner at St. Joe's, co-founded the initiative with his wife, Ann Wright, and Peter Davenport, in 2018. Ann, a Seattle U alum, serves as the Executive Director.

Ann and Peter, who were married at St. Joe's, are the parents of three multi-racial children. After experiencing first-hand the institutional racism that is built into school systems, as well as cultural discrimination and microaggressions, they decided to create an organization that would intentionally support our region's ethnic cultural communities to lend support to students, their families, and their communities who experienced similar situations.

The echoX founders recognized that communities of color, immigrant communities, and Indigenous communities are too often misrepresented or rendered invisible in mainstream media and public policy. This filters down to students who need support. "We are really passionate about empowering students of color," Ann explains. "One of our children had a diversity club at her school that really helped her through high school. But what about students who don't have that support? There is a real need for that support and community."

After researching options, including surveying various community organizations, Ann and Peter decided that echoX's core mission should be connecting people in new and innovative ways. The central community-based components of echoX are fourfold: a Directory of area cultural and ethnic organizations in the Pacific Northwest, Voices, curated area digital content, a one-stop-shop Events Calendar for arts and culture in the area, and DIGITIZE, a youth-focused component.

The DIGITIZE component is driven by high school students that have been encouraged to voice their views through various multi-modal digital tools. Through online and in-person workshops, students can learn computer code, giving them another tool to connect and make their voices heard.

As they build the DIGITIZE program, high schoolers will begin teaching workshops, creating peer networks and organic communities so that students can support one another. "Kids are digital natives," Ann says, "but often don't have the coding skills necessary to make structural change. It's the difference between giving someone a ride and giving them the keys to the car."

In addition to teaching coding skills, echoX is a platform for amplifying local cultural and ethnic voices by collecting articles, art, and other digital media. "We are trying to honor communities by highlighting their voice and amplifying it. We make space on the platform for direct voice."

EchoX is for everyone, says Peter. "The uniqueness of the site is that it isn't trying to push one agenda for one community," he says, "but rather to help all communities connect and empathize. We all came from somewhere, and for Indigenous people that somewhere is here. We are all rooted in culture. Culture is alive and organic. This is a way to connect people across cultures."

For more information, you can visit www.echox.org, their Facebook page, or email info@echox.org. In addition to financial donations, echoX is seeking volunteers to help provide web support, design for the database, admin support, and user testing.

A Message from St. Joseph Parish about Safely Re-opening

Dear friends,

As the COVID-19 situation constantly changes in King County, we want you to know that we are committed to your health and safety as we make decisions regarding re-opening the Church. Nothing is as important as your health and the health of your family. We promise to always put your health first as we make decisions deliberately, with the guidance of experts and evidence-based science.

The Church is currently open for small in-person Masses on Sunday. Each week, the Parish Health Advisory Board evaluates the public health data from the county, along with any new recommendations from the Archdiocese and the Governor's Office. Based on this information, the Health Advisory Board makes a recommendation to the Pastor as to whether in-person Mass should be held.

Please know that while we wish to continue in-person Mass, we will not hesitate to cancel weekend services if the evidence suggests that it would be prudent to do so. We will also continue to livestream Mass indefinitely, so that no one feels an obligation to attend in-person services if they do not feel comfortable.

Yours in Christ,
Fr. Glen Butterworth, Pastor

First Reading

Jeremiah 20:7-9

You duped me, O LORD, and I let myself be duped;
you were too strong for me, and you triumphed.
All the day I am an object of laughter;
everyone mocks me.

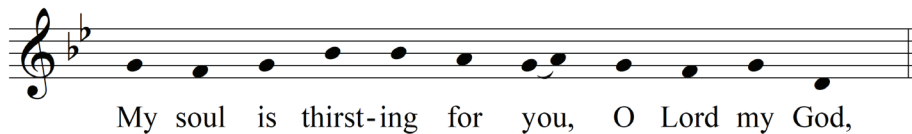

Whenever I speak, I must cry out,
violence and outrage is my message;
the word of the LORD has brought me
derision and reproach all the day.

I say to myself, I will not mention him,
I will speak in his name no more.
But then it becomes like fire burning in my heart,
imprisoned in my bones;
I grow weary holding it in, I cannot endure it.

Psalm

Psalm 63: My Soul Is Thirsting Lord

Ruff

O God, you are my God; at dawn I seek you; for you my soul is thirsting.
For you my flesh is pining, like a dry, weary land without water. Ref.

I have come before you in the sanctuary, to behold your strength and your glory.
Your loving mercy is better than life; my lips will speak your praise. Ref.

I will bless you all my life; in your name I will lift up my hands.
My soul shall be filled as with a banquet; with joyful lips, my mouth shall praise you. Ref.

For you have been my strength; in the shadow of your wings I rejoice.
My soul clings fast to you; your right hand upholds me. Ref.

Second Reading

Romans 12:1-2

I urge you, brothers and sisters, by the mercies of God, to offer your bodies as a living sacrifice, holy and pleasing to God, your spiritual worship. Do not conform yourselves to this age but be transformed by the renewal of your mind, that you may discern what is the will of God, what is good and pleasing and perfect.

Gospel Acclamation

May the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ enlighten the eyes of our hearts, that we may know what is the hope that belongs to our call.

Gospel

Matthew 16:21-27

Jesus began to show his disciples that he must go to Jerusalem and suffer greatly from the elders, the chief priests, and the scribes, and be killed and on the third day be raised. Then Peter took Jesus aside and began to rebuke him, "God forbid, Lord! No such thing shall ever happen to you." He turned and said to Peter, "Get behind me, Satan! You are an obstacle to me. You are thinking not as God does, but as human beings do."

Then Jesus said to his disciples, "Whoever wishes to come after me must deny himself, take up his cross, and follow me. For whoever wishes to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for my sake will find it. What profit would there be for one to gain the whole world and forfeit his life? Or what can one give in exchange for his life? For the Son of Man will come with his angels in his Father's glory, and then he will repay all according to his conduct."

Profession of Faith

I believe in one God, the Father almighty, maker of heaven and earth, of all things visible and invisible.
I believe in one Lord Jesus Christ, the Only Begotten Son of God, born of the Father before all ages.
God from God, Light from Light, true God from true God,
begotten, not made, consubstantial with the Father;
through him all things were made.
For us (men) and for our salvation he came down from heaven,
All bow.
and by the Holy Spirit was incarnate of the Virgin Mary, and became man.
All stand upright.

For our sake he was crucified under Pontius Pilate, he suffered death and was buried, and rose again on the third day in accordance with the Scriptures.
He ascended into heaven and is seated at the right hand of the Father.
He will come again in glory to judge the living and the dead and his kingdom will have no end.

I believe in the Holy Spirit, the Lord, the giver of life,
who proceeds from the Father and the Son,
who with the Father and the Son is adored and glorified,
who has spoken through the prophets.
I believe in one, holy, catholic and apostolic Church.
I confess one Baptism for the forgiveness of sins and I look forward to the resurrection of the dead and the life of the world to come. Amen.

Support Seattle U Food Workers

Because of the COVID pandemic, Seattle University transitioned to online classes and closed their campus, leaving 120 food service workers without a job.

These are some of the lowest paid workers at Seattle U, many of them immigrants, and almost all have very limited resources to see them through. In order to fill the gap, the service workers union has launched a campaign to raise funds from the community, to be distributed to the workers who are in the greatest financial need.

Rev. Gary Lazzeroni, pastor of St. Joseph in Vancouver, Washington, along with ten other priests, sent a letter asking parishes and parishioners across the Archdiocese for help. Our support of these workers could help them and their families to survive during this very challenging time. To donate, visit: <https://secure.actblue.com/donate/unite-here-local-8-su>

ST. JOSEPH FINANCIAL UPDATE

July has been a month full of activity at St. Joseph. After four months of online-only services, we began holding small in-person Masses. The staff has been busy making sure the in-person Mass adheres to the highest safety protocols, while also meeting your spiritual needs.

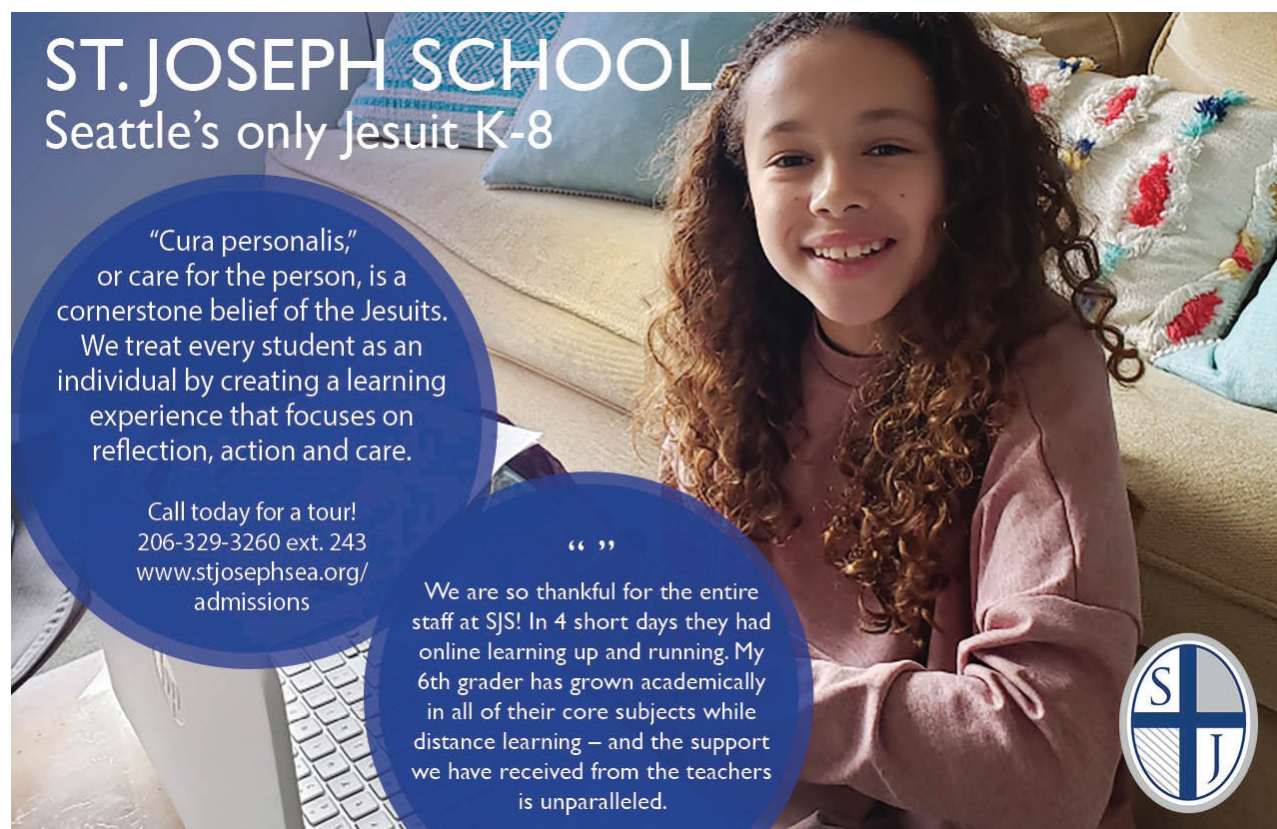

While the Parish Center remains closed to the public, please know we are here working both in the office and remotely on the parish operations, along with continuing to provide our online content for those who can't yet attend Mass. We are currently working on Fall programs and scheduling sacraments as well, now that we can hold small Masses.

Your response to the ACA has been inspiring. We are still awaiting the final tally from the Archdiocese, but we have fulfilled our matching goal, and with that, we expect to hit our goal. This achievement is fantastic - it is refreshing to not have this expense looming over us this year!

The parish itself is on-budget, as the St. Joe's family continues to generously support our parish. Look for more information on the full parish budget during our stewardship drive in September/October. Please do not hesitate to reach out with any questions - I love hearing from you, marti@stjosephparish.org or 206-965-1648.
